PREFACE

THE verb, which changes its form in every tense, and in every person and number of the tense, is the greatest obstacle to fluency for the student of French.

The so-called Natural Method requires a French environment or permanent French atmosphere, and is not suited to high-school or college work in this country; the Phonograph Method no teacher will want to use, if he knows the language; the Grammar and Reading Method makes a translator, but never a speaker of the language. The author has become convinced of the following: To learn to speak and write French, the first and foremost need of an English-speaking student of high-school age or beyond is to learn the verb forms, and by this is meant the ability to speak or to write, readily and without hesitation, in simple sentences, the affirmative, negative, interrogative, and negative-interrogative forms of the verbs. To acquire this facility, the pupil must see the verb forms, hear them, speak them, write them, — not as mere meaningless conjugations, but interwoven with nouns, pronouns, and other grammatical forms; that is, in sentences.

Sufficient space to verb forms cannot be given in grammars. There is no more space than is needed to give the synthesis and the syntax of the language. Yet special emphasis and drill on the verb forms is the key to speaking and writing the language. That is why a verb book is necessary as a companion to the grammar.

The verb forms are dead and meaningless only to him who has no imagination. The necessity for having them printed is to furnish the eye with the visual image of them and of their equivalents in the mother tongue. The average student in this country begins the study of French in high school or in college, at an age when time has become an essential factor, and when his intelligence is such that he wants to and should be taught to grasp things so far as possible in their entireties. It is only recently that psychologists have demonstrated that the best way to learn a word, or a combination of words, is to study it for the first time completely, not in parts. It is so with the tenses of the verbs. Let the pupil learn thoroughly each day as many complete tenses as he can assimilate in the time available; let him learn them as living forms, using them in living speech.

In this text, the model verbs are accompanied only by a sufficient number of sentences to illustrate their idiomatic use. Any more, it is believed, would be a disadvantage, because they would not suit the particular needs of the teacher, who will make special applications of them — and, let it not be forgotten, of other useful verbs of the same class — to fit the purposes of his course. The student learns most from sentences spontaneously formed, sentences which have involved some effort on his part to create, sentences which have called into play his imagination and problem-solving power.

In the eight years since the first appearance of this text, there has been an ever-increasing realization of the fact that the verb should receive paramount attention in teaching French. The verb is coming into its own. Many authorities who realize its importance might be cited. Yet it is the adherents of the "Direct Method" school, in France, who claim to have brought the verb into its true place. In his lectures given at the University of Bordeaux, to the teachers attending the course of the Alliance française, Professor E. Rochelle devotes a great deal of attention to the verb. He says, among many other things, that "the verb is the most important part of the sentence . . . . In teaching, the verb should receive the greatest attention." He points out that grammars, and other instruction books, have not emphasized the verb; that on the contrary they have obscured it; that teachers have not grasped the preponderant importance of the verb, and that, for this very reason, students, after a long course of study, have been unable to express themselves in the foreign tongue.

He tells how to handle the verb by the Direct Method: 1. By means of wall charts. 2. By reading aloud, the pupils following in their own books, underscoring verbs and taking notes while the teacher explains the meaning and use of the verbs; 3. By means of sentences having omissions in the verb forms to be supplied by pupils.

Undoubtedly all these methods are good; but the use of wall charts is difficult and expensive, and encourages a neglect of the imagination. A teacher can find a thousand ways of suiting action to the verb in the classroom, without having to depend upon pictures. He can have a pupil open or close a door, a window, a drawer, a knife, a match box. He can have objects picked up, used, in various ways, and replaced; have a match taken from a box, struck, extinguished, have the gas or the fire lighted, the electricity turned on or off; have objects taken out of desks, drawers, pockets, used and replaced. He can invite the pupils to take an imaginary street car ride, an automobile trip, etc., — with a verb to describe each movement; have them go shopping, go to the theater, to the station, buy tickets, board the train, get off, take a cab, go to a hotel, procure rooms, — in short, he can have more things done than he will have time for, and all with the greatest interest, and without leaving the classroom. And he will be giving the very best training to the imagination, that most important and most neglected faculty.

The Verb Book is to be used with the Grammar. Begin with a thorough drill in sentence form of the auxiliaries avoir and être, using them negatively, interrogatively, etc., until great facility is acquired.

Afterwards, have pages 33 and 109–113 "always in the lesson." Take up at first only three principal parts: The First Person, Singular, Present Indicative; the Present Participle; the Past Participle. Have a model verb studied in the Present Indicative and the Past Indefinite each day. Substitute other useful verbs conjugated like the model. Have very simple sentences formed and used, as already indicated. Proceed thus through the more important classes of verbs. Start over again, adding other tenses, and work through a second time in the same way; a third time, if you think it advisable.

Three months of this sort of work will give any average class a solid foundation upon which conversational fluency can quickly be built. The Verb Book is so used at the United States Military Academy for three months; after that time it remains as a companion book to composition texts and the reading course, the student being called upon continually for examples of the use in various tenses of the verbs he encounters. If he is uncertain of the forms, he reverts to the Verb Book for the model of the class concerned. The results obtained leave no doubt as to the value of the system.

The illustrative examples used with the model verbs in the text and in the Verb Dictionary are largely taken from Vorpierre's Dictionnaire Français; Dictionnaire de l'Académie Française; Nouveau Larousse Illustré; and Marchand's Five Thousand French Idioms, to all of which indebtedness is acknowledged.

THE FRENCH VERB

1. FRENCH VERBS

FRENCH verbs, like English verbs, are classified as transitive and intransitive, passive, reflexive or pronominal, and impersonal verbs.

Transitive verbs in French are called active verbs (verbes actifs).

Intransitive verbs are called neuter verbs (verbes neutres).

Passive verbs in French do not differ from passive verbs in English, except that they are not so much used.

A reflexive verb (often called pronominal verb) is one in which one of the objects of the verb (either direct or indirect) is the same person or thing as the subject of the verb. A reflexive verb in English is the same, and there is no difference between the two languages, except that the reflexive is used more in French, and that its auxiliary is être (to be) instead of avoir (to have).

The impersonal verb in French is practically the same as the impersonal verb in English.

In English we have several auxiliary verbs, such as to have, to be, may, can, must, ought, etc. In French there are practically only two, avoir, to have, and être, to be, which are used as the corresponding two verbs are in English to form compound tenses and to form the passive. The manner of expressing in French the meaning of the English auxiliaries other than to have and to be will be explained later.

2. MOOD

The following remarks on the use and formation of the moods and tenses will be found to be of assistance. They should be carefully read over in connection with the conjugation of avoir and other verbs.

3. THE FRENCH INFINITIVE

In French, as in English, the infinitive (l'infinitif) is the verb used as a noun.

In French, however, the infinitive is a single word, whereas in English the infinitive is usually preceded by the word to as its sign. In French the sign or mark of the infinitive is written at the end of the infinitive and making with it one word. This is also done in English in the case of what is known as the infinitive in ing.

In French there is but one form of the infinitive; in English there are two:

To march is difficult. Marching is difficult.

To march in French is marcher; er is the ending and sign of the infinitive marcher, of which march is the stem.

If we may imagine the to in the infinitive to march to be converted into ing and added after march, we get the second form of the English infinitive, marching. The ing is therefore the sign of the English "infinitive in ing," as it is called.

The infinitive in ing corresponds in construction more nearly than the infinitive with to to the French infinitive.

Marcher (French) } = to march. Marcher est difficile.
March*ing* (English) } March*ing* is difficult.

If we keep in mind the English infinitive in ing, it will aid materially in understanding infinitive constructions in French.

It is important to remember that the French infinitive is a single word, not including or implying to. This helps us to see that the French preposition for to (which is à or de) when used before the infinitive is not a sign of the infinitive, but a true preposition determined by the preceding verb.

Aidez-moi à faire cela. Help me in doing that = help me to do that.

Il a décidé de faire cela. He has decided to do that.

4. THE PRESENT PARTICIPLE

The present participle (le participe présent) corresponds to the English present participle. It always ends in ant.

5. THE PAST PARTICIPLE

The past participle (le participe passé) corresponds to the English past participle and is used to form compound tenses. It sometimes changes for gender and number.

6. THE INDICATIVE MOOD

1. The indicative mood (l'indicatif) corresponds to the English indicative.

2. The present tense (le présent) in French has but one form, and translates the English three forms, — the absolute, the emphatic, and the progressive: I speak, I do speak, I am speaking. In French there is only the single form, je parle, to translate the above three forms.

3. The imperfect tense (l'imparfait) is equivalent to the English progressive imperfect, and also indicates repeated or customary action: je parlais means I was speaking or I used to speak.

4. The past definite or preterit (le passé défini) answers the questions what happened or what took place at a certain past time.

5. The future tense (le futur) is formed in French without an auxiliary, and corresponds in use to the English future.

7. THE CONDITIONAL MOOD

The conditional mood (le conditionnel) corresponds to the English expression (by some called the conditional mood) I should speak, he would speak, if something occurred. I should speak, he would speak, would be in the conditional mood in French. It is formed without an auxiliary. Sometimes would indicates an habitual action and is then translated by the imperfect indicative in French.

8. THE SUBJUNCTIVE MOOD

The subjunctive mood (le subjonctif) is used much more frequently in French than in English, although the general principles governing its use are very nearly the same in both languages. As in English, it is never used except in a dependent clause, though the principal clause may sometimes be understood and not expressed. Being always in a dependent clause, it is always preceded by some conjunction or relative pronoun. As the conjunction most frequently used for this purpose is que, that, the subjunctive forms in the table giving the conjugation of a verb are always preceded by que.

THE USE OF THE TENSES OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE

The simple tenses of the subjunctive (le présent and l'imparfait) always indicate present or future time: the present subjunctive, present or future time counting from the present (the moment of speaking) or a future; the imperfect, present or future time counting from a past or a conditional. To indicate past time, the subjunctive verb must be in a compound tense.

The point from which this time is reckoned — whether the present or future (to be indicated by the subjunctive) counts from the present or a future or from a past or a conditional — is usually (though not always) indicated by the tense of the principal verb.

9. THE IMPERATIVE MOOD

The French imperative proper (l'impératif) is used to express a command or entreaty; this command or entreaty can be made either to the person spoken to or to the person speaking himself. As the French still use thee and thou as well as you, there are two forms for the second person; e.g. parle, speak (thou), and parlez, speak (you). In the first person the plural form is used; e.g. parlons, which may mean either let us speak or let me speak. In English the third persons of the imperative are expressed by the use of the verb let in combination with the verb expressing the action to be performed; e.g. let him speak, let them speak, etc. In French for this purpose the third persons of the present subjunctive are used; e.g. qu'il parle, qu'ils parlent; literally, that he may speak, that they may speak. A principal clause meaning I wish or I command is here understood, so that the entire meaning would be I wish or command that he or they speak. This is equivalent in meaning to the English let him or them speak.

In the conjugation of the verb the imperative proper is written first and the third persons next:

parle, speak (thou).
parlons, let us or me speak.
parlez, speak (you).
qu'il parle, let him speak.
qu'ils parlent, let them speak.

10. GENERAL REMARKS ON THE FORMATION OF VERBS

1. The infinitive always ends in er, ir, oir, or re; e.g. parler, finir, avoir, être. As these endings are the sign of the infinitive, French verbs are classified in conjugation according to these endings. Consequently there are four conjugations, called respectively 1st, 2d, 3d, and 4th. A verb of the 1st conjugation has its infinitive ending in er; the 2d in ir; the 3d in oir; the 4th in re.

2. As already stated, the present participle always ends in ant, whereas the English present participle has the invariable ending ing.

3. The past participle, except a few irregular participles, ends in é, i, u, u.

11. ENDINGS OF THE INDICATIVE

Present Tense. — The 2d person singular (thou) ends in s, and this is also the ending of the 2d person singular in all moods and tenses except the 2d person singular of the imperative. The 2d person plural (you) always ends in ez, the 1st person plural (we) in ons, and the 3d person plural in nt. These endings for these persons are also used in all moods and tenses, except in the past definite, where mes and tes are used in place of ons and ez. Also in three verbs (être, faire, dire) in the present indicative tes is used for the 2d person in place of ez.

Imperfect Tense. — The endings ais, ais, ait, ions, iez, aient are the endings of the imperfect tense for all verbs without exception.

Past Definite. — The ending of the three persons plural are mes, tes, rent. This is true for all verbs.

Future Tense. — The endings are rai, ras, ra, rons, rez, ront. This is true of all verbs. An explanation of the formation of the future will be given later.

12. ENDINGS OF THE CONDITIONAL

Notice that the endings are rais, rais, rait, rions, riez, raient. This is true of all verbs. It may aid the student if he notices that these terminations are the same as those of the imperfect indicative preceded by the letter r.

13. ENDINGS OF THE IMPERATIVE

With very few exceptions, the 2d person plural (you) and the 1st person plural or singular are obtained by dropping the pronouns vous and nous in the corresponding persons of the present indicative.

14. ENDINGS OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE

The formation of the present subjunctive will be explained later.

The imperfect subjunctive can be obtained from the past definite by changing the ending s or i of the 1st person singular into sse, sses, t, ssions, ssiez, ssent.

15. COMPOUND TENSES

The compound tenses are formed in French as in English by placing the past participle after the auxiliary avoir or être.

16. PAST INDEFINITE

The past indefinite (passé indéfini) is used in French not only to express what is usually expressed by the perfect in English, but also to express a simple past. In English this tense, as I have seen, is used with expressions such as to-day, this week, etc., where the time includes the present moment, but not with expressions of time entirely past, such as yesterday, last week, etc. But with events that occurred in time comparatively recent, such as are generally referred to in conversation, the French make no such distinction as in English. So the compound tense j'ai marché may be translated either by I have marched or by I marched.

In speaking of events that occurred in time comparatively recent, this tense is almost exclusively used in place of the past definite, and hence is sometimes called the conversational tense. The past definite is generally used in narration, and hence is sometimes called the historical tense.

For the above reasons the past indefinite is translated by both the simple and the compound past tenses; as j'ai marché = I marched, I have marched.

As this tense is used so much in French, the student should form the habit from the beginning of using it in place of the past definite for all events that occurred in time comparatively recent, where the imperfect indicative could not be used, reserving the past definite for narration, etc.

17. PAST or COMPOUND CONDITIONAL

The past conditional has two forms: one the ordinary or natural form, the other formed by taking the form of the pluperfect subjunctive and using it as a compound conditional. For all practical purposes these two forms mean the same thing, and can be used one for the other.

The fact that there are two forms to express the same thing need not be confusing, since we have in English similar cases, as in If I had or If I should have.

18. VERBS REQUIRING DE OR À BEFORE AN INFINITIVE DEPENDING UPON THEM

Whenever an infinitive follows a verb in French and depends upon it, the verb preceding the infinitive frequently requires either de or à before this infinitive. As the English construction generally does not suggest what should be used in French, every verb conjugated in the text is given with the de or à required before the infinitive, or the information is given when the verb does not take either de or à.

It is well to remember that whenever in English in order to is either expressed or understood before an infinitive, the preposition pour (in order to) must always be used in French.

19. Note, in the conjugation of avoir and the first few verbs following, that the compound tenses are arranged symmetrically opposite the corresponding simple tenses, each compound tense being made up of the past participle of the verb and of the corresponding simple tense of the auxiliary. This arrangement applies to all French verbs, and the names of the compound tenses corresponding to the simple tenses are the same in all verbs.

The French names of the tenses are:

Indicative mood —

Le présent (present); l'imparfait (imperfect); le passé défini (past definite, which corresponds to the English past); le futur (future); le passé indéfini (past indefinite, which corresponds to the English perfect); le plus-que-parfait (pluperfect); le passé antérieur (past anterior); le futur antérieur (future anterior, which corresponds to the future perfect).

Conditional —

Le présent (present); le passé (past).

Imperative —

Le présent ou le futur (present or future).

Subjunctive —

Le présent (present); l'imparfait (imperfect); le passé (imperfect); le plus-que-parfait (pluperfect).

Only the French names of the tenses are given in the paradigms.

Learn the names of all the tenses, and fix in the mind the compound tenses corresponding to all the simple tenses.

The past participles of most French verbs vary for gender and number to correspond to the gender and number of a word with which the participle agrees. The two rules governing this agreement will be found on page 109.

In the conjugations following, the abbreviation m.s. stands for masculine singular; f.s. stands for feminine singular; m.pl., for masculine plural; and f.pl., for feminine plural.

Note that the pronoun je, equivalent to I in English, loses the e, which is replaced by an apostrophe, before a vowel or a silent h. J'ai is pronounced as if spelled jai.

Avoir requires à before a dependent infinitive: J'ai à étudier, I have to study.

21. THE INTERROGATIVE CONJUGATION

In French, verbs are conjugated interrogatively only in the indicative and in the conditional moods.

With the pronouns the verb is conjugated as in English by placing the pronoun after the verb in the simple tenses: Avez-vous un livre? Have you a book? In compound tenses the subject pronoun occurs, of course, after the auxiliary: Ai-je eu un frère? Have I had a brother? The object pronoun occurs before the auxiliary.

In the French interrogation a hyphen connects the verb and the pronoun.

The t between the verb and the pronoun in a-t-il and a-t-elle, in the interrogative conjugation, is merely euphonic. It is thus used in the interrogative form whenever the third person of a verb ends with a vowel. This euphonic t is pronounced with the following pronoun: a-t-elle, pronounced a-telle.

23. When a noun is the subject of a verb in an interrogative sentence, the noun is placed first and the proper pronoun, corresponding in gender and number to the noun, is placed after the verb and connected with the latter by a hyphen in the manner explained before: Has the girl a ring? La fille a-t-elle une bague?

It should be remembered that in French there are but two genders, and that the masculine pronoun il (plur. ils) and the feminine pronoun elle (plur. elles) are used to represent things as well as to represent persons and animals: Les oiseaux ont-ils un nid? Have the birds a nest? Les plumes sont-elles sur la table? Are the pens on the table?

When representing things, il or elle is translated into English by it.

NOTE. — Another form of interrogation is sometimes used. It consists in prefixing to a statement the expression est-ce que, is it that: Est-ce que vous avez mon crayon? Is it that you have my pencil? — which is equivalent to saying, Have you my pencil?

The est-ce construction is used in French very much as we use the prefatory interrogative expression Is it a fact that, etc., to express doubt or surprise. It is also used to avoid ambiguity or a harsh sound such as sometimes occurs in the first person singular of verbs: Est-ce que je mange? Do I eat? instead of mangé-je? Or est-ce que je cours? for cours-je? Am I running? Est-ce que je mens? Am I lying? instead of mens-je? which might be confused with mangé-je?

Except in the cases outlined above the direct form of the interrogative is preferable: Ai-je le droit de parler? Have I the right to speak? Fait-il ce que vous désirez? Is he doing what (that which) you wish?

24. Je chante is the only form in French to express I sing, I am singing, I do sing. Similarly, chante-t-il? expresses sings he? is he singing? does he sing?

The English interrogative forms does he speak? did he speak? with the auxiliary have no equivalent in French. There is only one form for each tense, whether affirmative or negative.

25. THE NEGATIVE CONJUGATION

To make a French verb negative, ne is placed before it and the word pas after it: je n'ai pas les plumes, I haven't the pens; je ne chante pas, I do not sing. (Ne loses the e before a word beginning with a vowel or a silent h.)

The use of two words to form the negative of a verb is sometimes found in English, as an analysis of the above method will show.

The ne is the true negative corresponding to the English not or no. Pas is really a noun, and means step or pace. When we say I haven't a bit of bread, we are using an expression exactly similar to the French je n'ai pas de pain. The French originally added the word pas for emphasis, just as we do when we say I won't go a step; but the prolonged use of the word caused it to be adopted by the genius of the language, so that now it is necessary to complete the negation, except in certain cases, the discussion of which is outside the scope of this work.

Point (point in English) is sometimes used for pas (step). As a point is smaller than a step, the negation with point is necessarily stronger than the negation with pas: il n'a point d'argent, he hasn't any money at all. Point is not used as much as pas.

NOTE. — In the compound tenses ne comes before the auxiliary and pas after the auxiliary but before the participle: il n'a pas eu, etc.

In the infinitive present, ne and pas generally come together before the infinitive: être ou ne pas être, to be or not to be. It is not, however, incorrect to write n'être pas.

The same rule applies to the past infinitive; but in this case it seems to be preferable to put the auxiliary between the ne and the pas: n'avoir pas eu; or, less frequently, ne pas avoir eu.

See Verb Dictionary for idiomatic uses of avoir.

When a noun is the subject of a negative-interrogative sentence, make the sentence interrogative first (according to rule under interrogative conjugation); then make the interrogative sentence negative according to the rule on p. 19.

The quickest and best way to learn the French verb is to write out the entire verb, and then read aloud what has been written. The student should apply this method to all the different conjugations. By no other means can he so readily acquire the proficiency in the use of the verb necessary for conversation in French.

28. CONJUGATION OF ÊTRE = TO BE

Note that the imperfect indicative of this verb can be obtained by taking the present participle, étant, and changing its termination ant into the terminations of the imperfect indicative — ais, ais, ait, ions, iez, aient. This is true, with but very few exceptions, of all French verbs.

Note that when the student has learned the form of the future indicative, the present conditional can always be obtained by changing the terminations of the future to rais, rais, rait, rions, riez, raient. This is true of all French verbs.

32. FAIRE = TO DO

In the sense of to do, the verb faire is used alone.

Que faisiez-vous? What were you doing?

In this sense it is sometimes used in replies to questions made with other verbs.

Avez-vous parlé à cet homme ? Je l'ai fait, or Oui, monsieur.
Have you spoken to that man ? I have done it = I did.

Allez-vous à l'église tous les dimanches ?
Do you go to church (all the Sundays) every Sunday ?

Je le fais (I do = literally, I it do), or Oui, tous les dimanches.

This use of faire should be avoided. Repeat the verb of the question, or use an equivalent expression.

33. TO CAUSE TO BE DONE = TO HAVE DONE

The verb faire is much used before infinitives in the sense of to cause a thing to be done. This is sometimes called the causative mood of the verb following faire. In it faire is a true auxiliary. Faire in such sentences is generally translated in English by to have or to get (done).

J'ai fait réparer la chaise. { I have made to repair the chair. / I have had the chair repaired.

Il a fait abattre les grands arbres. { He has made to cut down the large trees. / He has had the large trees cut down.

Je fais faire mes gants ici. { I make to make my gloves here. / I have (or get) my gloves made here.

Note that no preposition is used after faire before the infinitive.

Conjugate the verb faire negatively, according to the method shown in the negative conjugation of avoir and être.

34. CASES WHERE TO MAKE IN ENGLISH CANNOT BE RENDERED IN FRENCH BY FAIRE

Where we use to make before an adjective, as I will make you happy, the French do not use faire; they use the verb rendre, because the meaning is really not to make, but to render you happy.

Je vous rendrai heureux. I will render (make) you happy.
Il a rendu cet enfant irritable. He has made that child irritable.
Cela m'a rendu malade. That has made me sick.

Conjugate faire interrogatively, then negatively and interrogatively, following the corresponding conjugations of avoir and être.

35. FAIRE IMPERSONAL

In cases where we use the impersonal construction with it in describing the condition of the weather and the temperature, the French use the verb faire impersonally with il as subject.

It is fine weather.	It is bad weather.
Il fait beau temps.	Il fait mauvais temps.
It is cold weather.	It is warm (weather).
Il fait froid.	Il fait chaud.

But when the construction has a personal subject, the verb être must be used in French, as in English.

The weather is fine.	The water is cold, warm.
Le temps est beau.	L'eau est froide, chaude.

See Verb Dictionary for additional uses of faire.

36. ALLER

The verb aller corresponds to the English verb to go, but has the difference that it is conjugated with être, to be, instead of avoir, to have.

This may be explained by the fact that aller is one of a group called verbs of motion (going, coming, etc.), which are generally conjugated with être because of the fact that they indicate a change of state. In English we say he has gone, but we may also say he is gone; he had gone, or he was gone.

In French être alone is used as auxiliary.

The past participle of all French verbs conjugated with être (except reflexive verbs, which are discussed later) agrees in gender and number with the subject of the verb. The agreement is shown by adding e to the past participle to indicate the feminine gender, and by adding s to the masculine or feminine singular in order to indicate the plural. Hence, she has gone is elle est allée. We had gone is nous étions allés (m.), allées (f.).

Vous êtes allé (allés), (allée), (allées), you have gone, varies with the sense; i.e. the participle is pluralized if the statement applies to more persons than one, otherwise it is singular.

Aller requires neither à nor de before an infinitive depending upon it.

Je vais parler. I am going to speak.
J'allais étudier. I was going to study.

Note in the two preceding examples the use of aller as auxiliary, just as we use to go in English.

Conjugate the verb aller in the negative, interrogative, and the negative-interrogative forms, following the corresponding conjugations of avoir and être.

See Verb Dictionary for idiomatic uses of aller.

38. CLASSIFICATION OF THE FRENCH VERBS

As to Conjugations

French verbs are arranged with respect to the endings or signs of their present infinitives into four classes or conjugations. Those ending in -er form the 1st conjugation; those in -ir form the 2d conjugation; those in -oir form the 3d conjugation; and those in -re the 4th conjugation.

The conjugation of each class is illustrated by a verb called the model verb of that conjugation. In this work parler, to speak, has been chosen as the model verb of the 1st conjugation, finir as that of the 2d, recevoir as that of the 3d, and rendre as that of the 4th. French verbs are further classified according to their form into regular, irregular, and defective verbs.

A regular verb is one which always follows, throughout, the conjugation of the model verb of the same ending.

An irregular verb is one which, having the same ending as the verbs of one of the four conjugations, deviates to a greater or lesser degree from the conjugation of the model verb with the same ending.

A defective verb is one which is lacking in some of the tenses or persons.

39. COMPOSITION OF THE FRENCH VERB

The French verb is composed of a stem, or root, which remains unchanged throughout the conjugation of the regular verb, and of a termination or ending which is changed to correspond to the tense, person, and number of the conjugation.

To find the stem of a verb, remove the ending of the present infinitive; the unchanging root will remain. In parler, to speak, the stem is parl-, and this remains unchanged throughout; -er is the ending of the present infinitive.

The endings for all the moods and tenses of the four conjugations are arranged in the following table.

A knowledge of the endings set forth in the foregoing table enables one to conjugate at once any regular verb by adding to its stem (obtained as explained above) the endings of the proper conjugation.

41. THE FIRST CONJUGATION

Verbs of the 1st conjugation end in er. All regular verbs ending in er are conjugated like the model verb. There are but three irregular verbs of the 1st conjugation. They are : aller, to go (already conjugated) ; envoyer, to send; and renvoyer, to send back. The conjugation of envoyer and renvoyer will be shown later.

For purposes of practice, a small list of verbs conjugated similarly to the model verb will be found after each conjugation.

Note that the imperfect indicative can be obtained, as was stated before, by changing the ending ant of the present participle into ais, ais, ait, ions, iez, aient.

Note that the present subjunctive can be obtained by changing the ending ant of the present participle into e, es, e, ions, iez, ent.

It is well to remember that the present subjunctive of all French verbs has these terminations.

Note that the imperative proper can be obtained by dropping the subject je of the 1st person, present indicative, for the 2d person singular of the imperative ; and by dropping the subjects nous and vous of the present indicative for the corresponding persons of the imperative.

The endings of the regular verbs are printed in italics. The student should observe these as he studies the verbs in order to assist his memory in retaining the table of endings given in article 40.

The verb parler used intransitively means to speak, to talk.

Je parlais à mon frère. I was speaking to my brother.
Nous parlions de mon père. We were talking of my father.

Before an infinitive, parler requires de.

Ils parlent de quitter le pays. They are talking of leaving the country.

NOTE. — If the meaning is in order to, or for the purpose of, pour is used before the infinitive.

Il parle beaucoup pour gagner du temps. He is talking a great deal to (in order to) gain time.

Parler is used transitively, as in English, before names of languages.

Elle parle français. She speaks French.

See Verb Dictionary for further information.

Like parler conjugate the following verbs:

Admirer, to admire. Used as in English.
Fermer, to close. As in English. Fermer la porte à clef, to lock the door
Marcher, to walk; to march. (Intransitive.)
Chanter, to sing. Used as in English.
Déjeuner, to breakfast. (Intransitive.) The French do not say I have eaten breakfast, but J'ai déjeuné, etc., I have breakfasted, etc.
Dessiner, to draw. As in English; but to draw in the sense of to pull is tirer.
Tirer, to draw, to pull. Used as in English.

46. THE SECOND CONJUGATION

Finir is the model verb of the 2d conjugation. All regular verbs ending in -ir are conjugated like finir.

Note that in the regular verbs of this conjugation the present participle, like finissant (in the model verb), has -iss inserted before the ending -ant.

Note that this -iss is retained in regular verbs in -ir in the cases where we change the ending -ant of the present participle into the proper terminations to secure other forms of the verb; as in the imperfect indicative (fin-issais, issais, issait, issions, issiez, issent) and the present subjunctive (fin-isse, isses, isse, issions, issiez, issent).

Finir is used, like the verb to finish in English, as a transitive verb.

Le charpentier a fini cette maison. The carpenter has finished that house.
Je finis ma leçon. I am finishing my lesson.

It is also used, like to finish in English, as an intransitive verb.

Il finira bientôt. He will finish soon.
Avez-vous fini? Have you finished? (Are you through?)

Finir requires de before an infinitive.

A-t-il fini de parler? Has he finished speaking? (with speaking?)

Conjugate finir negatively, interrogatively and negatively, and interrogatively, following the corresponding conjugations of parler.

Like finir, conjugate the following verbs:

Abolir, to abolish. As in English. Ils ont aboli cette coutume. They have abolished that custom.

Adoucir, to soften. As in English. Cela adoucit la vie. That makes life pleasanter.

Bâtir, en, to build (of or with). As in English. Les oiseaux bâtissent un nid. The birds are building a nest. Une maison bâtie en pierre. A house built of stone.

Choisir, to choose. As in English. Nous choisissons cette fleur. We choose this flower.

Fournir, de (with), to furnish. As in English. Ils ont fourni du blé à l'armée. They have furnished (some) grain to the army. Son oncle lui fournit son tabac. He is furnished (supplied with) tobacco by his uncle.

48. THE THIRD CONJUGATION

The verbs of the 3d conjugation end in oir. The model verb is recevoir.

Note that from the 1st person singular of the past definite the remaining forms of the past definite may be obtained by changing the final letter s into s, t, mes, tes, rent: Je reçu*s*, tu reçu*s*, il reçu*t*, nous reçû*mes*, vous reçû*tes*, ils reçu*rent*.

Note that when the c comes before o or u, a cedilla is placed under it; thus ç in order to preserve the soft sound of the c which it has in the present infinitive. Otherwise the c, according to the rules of pronunciation, would take the hard sound (like k) before the o and u.

There are but seven regular verbs of this conjugation. They are given below.

Note with respect to these seven regular verbs that it is the ending evoir which changes: rec*evoir*, rec*evant*, je reç*ois*; d*evoir*, d*evant*, je d*ois*.

Like recevoir, conjugate:

Apercevoir, to perceive, to notice. J'aperçois votre ami dans le lointain. I perceive your friend in the distance.

Concevoir, to conceive. Qui a conçu ce projet? Who conceived this plan?

Décevoir, to deceive. Cette lettre vous a déçu. That letter deceived you.

Recevoir (model verb). Avez-vous reçu les fleurs? Did you receive the flowers? Madame B. ne reçoit pas ce soir. Mrs. B. is not receiving this evening.

Percevoir, to collect (rents, taxes, etc.). Il a perçu les impôts. He has collected the taxes.

Percevoir is also used in figurative sense of to receive or to catch; as a sound. Il a perçu le son des canons. He caught the sound of the cannon.

Devoir, to owe. Je dois cent francs à cet homme. I owe that man one hundred francs.

In sense of to owe, devoir requires de before the infinitive:

On doit à ses parents d'être honorable. One owes it to his parents to be honorable.
Redevoir, to owe again.

NOTE. — A circumflex accent is used in the masculine singular of the past participle of devoir and redevoir: dû, redû. In the feminine and in the plural of the past participle no accent is used: due (f.), redue (f.), dus (m.pl.), redus (m. pl.).

49. 1. Devoir is a very important French verb. In its true sense of to owe it is used as in English, as shown above.

It has also a use, without de, before the infinitive, like an auxiliary.

In this respect it corresponds to the English use of ought before an infinitive; or of should used in the sense of ought.

It must be remembered that ought (which is equivalent to to owe) in English is defective, while in French devoir is complete.

In this meaning, devoir is used principally in the conditional, present or past:

Vous devriez lui dire toute la vérité. You ought to tell him the whole truth.
Vous auriez dû lui dire toute la vérité. You ought to have told him the whole truth.
Vous devriez commencer plus tôt. You should (ought to) begin earlier.
Nous aurions dû commencer plus tard. We should (ought to) have begun later.

Notice the circumflex accent over the past participle of devoir to distinguish it from the du, of the, or some.

When ought is used in the sense of to be one's duty, devoir is used in French in other tenses of the indicative:

Les enfants doivent respecter leurs parents. Children ought (it is their duty) to respect their parents.
Je ne savais pas ce que je devais faire. I did not know what I ought (it was my duty) to do.

2. Devoir is also used before the infinitive in the sense of to be to:

Je dois partir demain. I am to start to-morrow.
Il devait me rencontrer à six heures. He was to meet me at six o'clock.

This use is confined to the present and imperfect of the indicative. It involves probable futurity with more or less idea of obligation, and shades off into the meanings of:

To be obliged to, to have to, to intend to.

Je dois aller à la poste. I have to go to the post-office.
Devez-vous y aller maintenant? Have you to go there now?
Dois-je aller à la banque ce matin? Am I (do I have) to go to the bank this morning?
Dois-je vous accompagner? Shall I go with you? (Of frequent use.)

Notice also: Je ne pouvais vous attendre ; j'ai dû aller à la banque. I could not wait for you, I had to (was obliged to) go to the bank.

3. Devoir is used in the sense of must (but in this use should be carefully distinguished from falloir, Par. 93).

In the sense of must the impersonal verb falloir expresses necessity ; whereas devoir expresses an inference on the part of the speaker; i.e a consequence inferred from what he knows to be true.

Après un si long voyage vous devez être fatigué. After so long a trip you must be tired.

Elle a dû être belle dans sa jeunesse. She must have been beautiful in her youth.

Il est couvert de poussière, il a dû tomber. He is covered with dust; he must have fallen.

Rendre means to render or to give back. Hence it is used where we use the verb to return transitively in the sense of to give back:

Did you return (give back) the book? Avez-vous rendu le livre?

The verb retourner (to return) in French should not be used in this sense.

As has been stated before, the verb rendre has a wide application in French to correspond to the English to make followed by an adjective:

Cela les rend malheureux. That makes them unhappy.
Le commerce rend un pays prospère. Commerce makes a country prosperous.

But it must be noticed that the French have a large number of verbs which express in the one word what we express by to make and an adjective. Examples:

Fâcher, to make angry. Noircir, to make black. Enrouer, to make hoarse. Impatienter, to make impatient. Altérer, to make thirsty.

When the French have such a verb, they do not use rendre and the adjective. For example, to say, Salt fish makes me thirsty, a Frenchman says, Le poisson salé m'altère. It would be an error to say, Le poisson salé me rend altéré.

So That makes me angry, is Cela me fâche.

The student must consult the dictionary and cultivate observation in order to learn the verbs which the French use in this way.

Like rendre conjugate the following verbs:

Vendre, to sell. Il a vendu le cheval de mon frère. He has sold my brother's horse.
Attendre, to wait for. J'attends ma mère. I'm waiting for my mother.
Entendre, to hear. J'entends sa voix. I hear his voice. J'ai entendu que cela était vrai. I have heard that that is true.
Défendre, to defend; to forbid. Il a défendu son pays. He defended his country. In sense of to forbid de is used before infinitive:

Je vous défends de faire cela. I forbid you to do that.

Descendre, to come down or to go down. Auxiliary être in this sense: Nous sommes descendus au jardin. We went down to the garden.
Descendre also used transitively in the sense of to take or bring down. The auxiliary is then avoir. Il a descendu la malle. He brought down the trunk.

PRIMITIVE TENSES

51. The most effective way of learning quickly to conjugate French verbs is by acquiring the habit of forming the tenses from the five principal parts or primitive tenses. This method will be found applicable not only to the regular verbs, but also to irregular verbs; and it is especially with reference to the latter that this method is most useful.

The five primitive tenses are: the infinitive, the present participle, the past participle, the present indicative, the first person of the past definite.

The remaining tenses are formed from the above primitive tenses or principal parts, as follows (the irregular verb partir is used to illustrate):

1. From the infinitive are derived:

a. The future indicative, by adding to the infinitive the terminations ai, as, a, ons, ez, ont; partir, je partirai, tu partiras, il partira, nous partirons, vous partirez, ils partiront.

b. The present conditional, by adding to the infinitive the terminations ais, ais, ait, ions, iez, aient: partir, je partirais, tu partirais, il partirait, nous partirions, vous partiriez, ils partiraient.

Partir, to depart. Auxiliary, être

Primitive Tenses	Derived Tenses	je	tu	il, elle, on	nous	vous	ils, elles
Partir	Future	partirai	partiras	partira	partirons	partirez	partiront
	Conditional	partirais	partirais	partirait	partirions	partiriez	partiraient

2. From the present participle are derived:

a. The three persons plural of the present indicative, by changing the termination ant of the present participle to ons, ez, ent: partant, nous partons, vous partez, ils partent.

b. The imperfect indicative, by changing the termination ant of the present participle to ais, ais, ait, ions, iez, aient: partant, je partais, tu partais, il partait, nous partions, vous partiez, ils partaient.

c. The present subjunctive, by changing the termination ant of the present participle to e, es, e, ions, iez, ent: partant, que je parte, que tu partes, qu'il parte, que nous partions, que vous partiez, qu'ils partent.

Part*ant*	3d Pers. Pl. Pres. Ind.				partons	partez	partent
	Imperfect Indicative	partais	partais	partait	partions	partiez	partaient
	Present Subjunctive	q. parte	partes	parte	partions	partiez	partent

3. From the past participle are derived the compound tenses by prefixing the proper tenses of the auxiliary, which is être in this case: je suis parti, etc.

4. From the present indicative are derived:

a. The 2d person singular of the imperative by dropping the pronoun je of the 1st person singular: je pars, pars.

b. The 1st and 2d persons plural of the imperative by dropping the pronouns nous and vous in the corresponding forms of the present indicative: nous partons, vous partez, partons, partez.

The 3d persons singular and plural of the imperative are identical with the 3d persons singular and plural of the present subjunctive.

Je pars	Present Indicative	pars	pars	part	partons	partez	partent
	Imperative		pars		partons	partez

5. From the 1st person singular of the past definite are derived:

a. The remaining forms of the past definite by changing, in the 2d, 3d, and 4th conjugations, the termination s to s, t, mes, tes, rent: je partis, tu partis, il partit, nous partîmes, vous partîtes, ils partirent: in the 1st conjugation, by changing the termination ai to as, a, âmes, âtes, èrent.

b. The imperfect subjunctive by changing the final letter i or s of the 1st person singular past definite to sse, sses, t, ssions, ssiez, ssent: je partis, que je partisse, que tu partisses, qu'il partît, que nous partissions, que vous partissiez, qu'ils partissent.

In the 3d person singular of the imperfect subjunctive and in the 1st and 2d persons plural of the past definite a circumflex accent is placed over the vowel preceding the terminations t, mes, tes: qu'il partît, nous partîmes, vous partîtes.

Je partis	Past definite	partis	partis	partit	partîmes	partîtes	partirent

Remarks

6. It is seen that the terminations of the future are identical with the corresponding persons and numbers of the present indicative of the verb avoir, excepting slight variations in the 1st and 2d persons plural, and the meanings are identical: je parlerai means literally to speak I have, or I have to speak; this last form has a future meaning in English.

It is seen that the terminations of the present conditional are identical with the terminations of the imperfect indicative.

7. Table showing the conjugation of a verb from the primitive tenses.

Unless otherwise directed in special cases, the verb will always be written on the blackboard according to the following model:

Partir, to depart. Auxiliary, être

It will be seen that the three persons plural of the present indicative are written twice; once as a derivative tense, and second, as a primitive tense for the imperative.

TABLE OF ORTHOGRAPHIC CHANGES

52. In French there are a number of verbs which in certain tenses require a change of spelling either to maintain the same sound throughout for the stem vowel (which is the vowel in the last syllable of the stem), or to avoid a non-uphonious combination or the possibility of an incorrect pronunciation.

Such verbs are not irregular, but are classified as verbs having orthographical peculiarities.

The following table indicates these changes, which are explained and illustrated in the pages immediately following.

Verbs in which changes are made	Tenses in which changes occur
1. Verbs in -cer require cedilla under the c, before a or o.	Pres. part. 1st pers. pl., pres. ind.
2. Verbs in -ger require e inserted after g, before a or o.	All pers. sing., 3d pl., impf. ind. Past definite throughout, except 3d pl. 1st pers. pl., imper. Impf. subj. throughout.
3. Verbs in -oyer change y to i before e mute.
4. Verbs in -uyer change y to i before e mute.
5. Verbs with e mute as stem vowel like mener, lever, etc. (except verbs in -eler and -eter) take the grave accent over the stem vowel before e mute.	All pers. sing., 3d pers. pl., pres. indic. Fut. throughout. Pres. cond. throughout.
6. Most verbs in -eler double the l before e mute.	2d and 3d pers. sing., 3d pers. pl. of imper. All pers. sing., 3d pl. pres. subj.
7. Most verbs in -eter double the t before e mute.

8. Verbs with stem vowel e acute followed by consonant, like révérer, change acute accent to grave before e, es, ent, except in the fut. and the cond.	All pers. sing., 3d pl., pres. ind. 2d and 3d sing., 3d pl., imper. All sing., 3d pl., pres. subj.
9. Verbs in -ayer preferably retain the y throughout; but may change y into i in . . . . . (Poets change the ye to i in fut. and pres. cond.).	(Optional change) 3d sing. and 3d pl., pres. ind. Fut. throughout. Pres. cond. throughout.
10. Verbs in -eyer are like those in -ayer (except grasseyer, always unchanged).
11. The verb arguer takes two dots over e or i whenever one of them follows the u in conjugation.	All sing., 3d pl., pres. ind. 1st and 2d pl., impf. ind. Fut. throughout. Pres. cond. throughout. 2d and 3d sing., 3d pl., imperative. Pres. subj. throughout.
12. The verbs jouer and tuer are written by some grammarians with a diaeresis over the i in the terminations of	1st and 2d pl., impf. ind. 1st and 2d pl., pres. subj.

VERBS HAVING ORTHOGRAPHICAL PECULIARITIES

53. CONJUGATION OF VERBS ENDING IN -CER

In the French language the consonant c, when it precedes e or i, is pronounced soft like the hissed s in English; but when the c precedes a, o, or u, it is pronounced hard like k.

In the conjugation of verbs in -cer the c comes before an a or an o in certain tenses. In such cases in order to maintain the soft sound of the c a cedilla is placed under it.

Hereafter, in order to save space, the construction with on in the conjugation will be omitted except in the present indicative and in the imperative. The second form of the conditional will also be omitted; but the instructor should cause the student in all cases to write the verb with these constructions in full.

The student will have observed that the second form of the conditional is the same as the pluperfect subjunctive with the que omitted.

Avancer is used like the verb to advance in English. Note its use in sense of to promote (in grade); and to make progress.

Nous avons avancé cet élève. We have promoted that pupil.
Cet officier a été avancé au grade de capitaine. That officer has been promoted to the grade of captain.

All verbs in -cer are conjugated like avancer.

For practice conjugate the following:

Tracer, to trace (as a line).

Prononcer, to pronounce.

Commencer, to commence. As in English. Requires à before infinitive. Il commence à lire. He's beginning to read.

Forcer, to force. As in English. But requires à before infinitive when transitive, and de when passive. Je l'ai forcé à faire cela. I have forced him to do that. Il est (a été) forcé de faire cela. He is (has been) forced to do that.

55. CONJUGATION OF VERBS IN -GER

The French g is soft before e and i, but is hard before a, o, and u. In the conjugation of verbs ending in -ger an e mute is inserted after the g and before the a or o, whenever an a or an o would otherwise follow the g. This e mute merely keeps the g soft, and does not add a syllable to the verb.

Manger is used as in English. Notice that to eat out of a dish, bowl, etc., is manger dans.

The French never say J'ai mangé mon déjeuner, dîner, etc., I've eaten breakfast, dinner, etc. They use the verbs déjeuner, dîner, etc.: J'ai déjeuné.

Like manger, conjugate:

Voyager, to travel. Nager, to swim. Juger, to judge. All used as in English.

Songer, to dream (de) of, to think (à) of. J'ai songé de ma mère. I dreamed of my mother. J'ai songé de voyager sur mer. I dreamed of traveling on the deep. Il ne songe qu'à ses plaisirs. He thinks only of his pleasures. Il songe à partir demain. He's thinking of starting to-morrow. Songer here is figurative; to dream literally is rêver.

57. MENER = TO LEAD, TO TAKE

It is a principle of French spelling that when two e's are separated by a consonant, the last e being an e mute, the first e (unless it is the e of a prefix, as in revenir) must have a grave accent over it or the consonant must be written double ; as le père, la nouvelle.

In mener, whenever n is followed by an e mute, put a grave accent over the e preceding the n.

Mener means to lead, and to take, in the sense of taking some thing or person that does not have to be carried. To take when the thing or person has to be carried is porter.

Menez les enfants à leur mère. Take the children to their mother.
Portez les fleurs à ma sœur. Take the flowers to my sister.

To bring is amener when the thing or person has not to be carried. To bring when the thing or person has to be carried is apporter.

Il a amené son ami. He has brought his friend.
Il a apporté des livres. He has brought some books.
Cela a amené une vive discussion. That brought on a lively discussion.

Emmener means to take away, when the thing or person does not have to be carried; emporter, to take away, when it must be carried.

Emmenez les enfants. Emportez ces livres.

Like mener, conjugate:

Amener, to bring, to introduce. Emmener, to take away.

Enlever, to take away (like emporter in use). Lever, To lift up. Élever, to bring up (as children).

The above verbs are used like their corresponding English verbs. For peculiar and idiomatic uses of all verbs see the dictionary at back of book.

58. VERBS IN -ELER AND -ETER

Verbs in -eler and -eter double the l or the t when these letters are followed by an e mute, instead of taking a grave accent over the preceding e, as is the case with mener.

Some of the verbs of this class, however, instead of doubling the consonant take the grave accent over the preceding e like mener.

Appeler is used transitively, governing its object directly. In this sense it has not the meaning to call upon (to make a visit to) a person. Faire une visite à is the French idiom corresponding to to call upon.

J'ai fait une visite à votre frère. I called upon your brother.

Passer chez le boucher (à la banque). To call at the butcher's (at the bank). Faire venir le médecin. To call in the doctor. See 143.

Appeler is also used reflexively. Il s'appelle Henri. His name is Henry. Je m'appelle Jean. My name is John. Comment s'appelle-t-il? What is his name?

For conjugation of a verb used reflexively see Par. 74.

Like appeler, conjugate:

Renouveler, to renew. Je renouvelle mes promesses. I renew my promises.
Chanceler, to stagger, totter. Cet homme chancelle; il est ivre. That man is staggering; he is drunk.
Jeter, to throw. Il jette une pierre au chien. He is throwing a stone at the dog.
Projeter, to project. Ces arbres projettent leur ombre sur mon jardin. Those trees cast (project) their shade on my garden (de before infin.). Nous projetons de partir.
Cacheter, to seal. Il a cacheté la lettre.
Étinceler, to sparkle. Les diamants étincellent au soleil.

60. VERBS IN -ELER AND -ETER WHICH ARE EXCEPTIONS TO RULE FOR APPELER AND ARE CONJUGATED LIKE MENER

Verbs ending in -eler and -eter usually double the l or t before a mute syllable following the stem vowel; but the following are exceptions. They are conjugated like mener.

Bourreler, to torment.	Déceler, to disclose.	Ecarteler, to quarter.	Harceler, to harass.	Modeler, to model.
Celer, to conceal.	Dégeler, to thaw.	Geler, to freeze.	Marteler, to hammer.	Peler, to peel.
Acheter, to buy.	Becqueter or Béqueter, to peck.	Craqueter, to crackle.	Étiqueter, to label.	Racheter, to redeem.

J'achète, tu achètes, etc., instead of j'achette, tu achettes, etc.
Je pèle (I peel), instead of je pelle, etc.

The preceding verbs present no difficulties in their uses, which correspond in general to those of their English equivalents. The verb dictionary at back of book will show any peculiar or idiomatic applications.

61. Verbs like révérer, having the é (e acute) before the consonant immediately preceding the infinitive termination -er, change this é (e acute) to è (e grave) wherever this consonant is followed by an e mute; except in the future and the conditional, where the acute accent is not changed. The acute accent is retained in the future and the conditional of these verbs.

Posséder, to possess. As in English.

Régler, to rule, to regulate, to adjust (differences).

Abréger, to shorten, to abridge, to abbreviate.

Préférer, to prefer. As in English. Je préfère rester ici. I prefer to remain here.

63. Verbs in -ayer and -eyer preferably retain the same orthography throughout; but some grammarians change the y into i in the third person singular, and the third person plural of the present indicative, and throughout the future and present conditional.

Poets change the ye to i in the future indicative and the present conditional.

The verb grasseyer, to speak thickly, always retains the y.

Payer is used as an active verb, and then generally governs the thing paid for (as we say in English) directly and the person or cause to which money is paid indirectly.

J'ai payé les fleurs au fleuriste. I paid the florist for the flowers.
Il a payé les consommations. He has paid for the drinks.

Also payer is used with the person paid as direct object; as,

Il a payé ses créanciers en argent comptant. He paid his creditors in cash.
Il les a payés comptant. He paid them cash.
Il a payé son crime de sa vie. He has paid for (expiated) his crime with his life.
Je suis venu lui présenter mes respects. I have come to pay him my respects.
Il vous a fait un compliment bien relevé. He has paid you a high compliment.
Il a été payé de sa peine. He has been paid for his trouble.
Elle a payé mes soins par du dédain. She has paid me (my efforts) with disdain.

Like payer, conjugate:

Effrayer, to frighten (as in English).

Essayer, to try. Requires de before infin. Il a essayé cela. Il a essayé de faire cela.

65. JOUER AND TUER

The verbs jouer, to play, and tuer, to kill, may be written like the model verb parler; but some grammarians place a diaeresis over the i of the terminations in which it might otherwise be conceived to form a diphthong with the preceding u. These tenses are: the imperfect indicative and the present subjunctive.

Jouer

Imparfait Indicatif

Jouant	Je jouais	I was playing	Nous jouions (jouïons)	we were playing
	Tu jouais	thou wast playing	Vous jouiez (jouïez)	you were playing
	Il jouait	he was playing	Ils jouaient	they were playing

Présent Subjonctif

Jouant	Que je joue	that I may play	Que nous jouïons	that we may play
	Que tu joues	that thou mayest play	Que vous jouïez	that you may play
	Qu'il joue	that he may play	Qu'ils jouent	that they may play

Jouer is used both as a transitive and as a neuter verb. The following examples will show the principal distinctions between its use and that of the verb to play in English.

Marie is playing with the boys. Marie joue avec les petits garçons.
We sometimes play cards in the evening. Le soir nous jouons quelquefois aux cartes.

She plays the piano very well. Elle joue (touche) très bien du piano.
He trifles with life. Il joue avec la vie.
He played, led (at cards, chess, etc.) out of his turn. Il a joué hors de son tour.
Il a joué le rôle de Hamlet. He played the rôle of Hamlet.
Il a joué le savant. He played (feigned to be) the scholar.
Il a joué le roi. He played (led at cards) the king.
Il joue du violon, de la guitare, d'un instrument. He plays the violin, etc. In English we sometimes hear he plays well on the piano, etc.

Tuer, to kill, is conjugated like jouer.

66. ARGUER

To preserve the separate pronunciation of the u in arguer, a diaeresis is placed over the letters e or i whenever in the conjugation one of them follows the u.

This occurs in the present, the imperfect, and the future of the indicative; in the present conditional; the imperative; and in the present subjunctive: j'arguë, I argue; j'arguërai, I shall argue, etc.

67. In passing from the class of verbs with orthographical peculiarities, it may be noted that in verbs like prier, to pray; étudier, to study, the conjugation sometimes brings two i's together; as: Nous priions, We were praying; Nous étudiions, We were studying. Both i's must be pronounced.

In the verb créer, to create, we find three e's coming together in the past participle feminine; as: Cette terre a été créée marquisat par le roi, That estate has been made a marquisate by the king.

Conjugate:

Certifier, to certify.	Lier, to tie.	Oublier, to forget.
Crier, to cry.	Manier, to handle.	Plier, to bend.
Étudier, to study.	Nier, to deny.	Remercier, to thank.

Prier governs its object directly.

Je prie Dieu chaque nuit de vous protéger. I pray God each night to protect you.

Notice the de before the infinitive following prier.

Prier is much used in a social way in the sense of beg, request.

Il m'a prié de l'accompagner. He begged (or requested) me to go with him.

Note the much used idiomatic expression Je vous en prie, used after a statement by the speaker or by another to mean pray, pray do, I pray you, I beg you, etc.

Prier is followed by de ordinarily before an infinitive, but in formal invitations to social affairs à is used. To invite a friend casually to dine with you if he happens to be with you at the dinner hour, you would use the form Je vous prie de dîner, etc. But to invite him for an affair involving preparation you would use prier à dîner.

68. The following verbs have slight peculiarities which should be learned.

1. Fleurir, to bloom, to blossom; to flourish, prosper (if said of persons)

Fleurir has two present participles: fleurissant (if used in a literal sense), to bloom or blossom; florissant (if said of persons in a figurative sense), to prosper, flourish.

In its literal sense with fleurissant it is conjugated exactly like finir. In the figurative sense with florissant the only variation in the tenses occurs in the imperfect indicative.

Florissant	Je florissais	I was prosperous	Nous florissions	we were prosperous
	Tu florissais	thou wast prosperous	Vous florissiez	you were prosperous
	Il florissait	he was prosperous	Ils florissaient	they were prosperous

Refleurir, to bloom again, is subject to the same rules as fleurir.

2. Bénir, to bless, to consecrate

Bénir is regular and conjugated like finir; but the past participle has two forms, béni and bénit. The second form, bénit, is used only in the passive voice, and when the thing is consecrated by a religious ceremony and is supposed thereby to have been changed in character.

Examples:

Des armes qui ont été bénites par l'église, ne sont pas toujours bénies du ciel sur le champ de bataille.

Arms (weapons) which have been consecrated by the church are not always blessed by heaven on the field of battle.

De l'eau bénite, holy (consecrated) water.

Bénir (passive) is followed by par when it expresses a definite action, i.e. refers to an event; otherwise by de. See first example above for use of both. Actively, bénir uses no preposition: Le prêtre a béni l'assistance.

3. Haïr, to hate

To indicate its separate pronunciation a diaeresis is placed over the i of the verb hair except in those persons in italics of the tenses following.

Indicatif Présent		Impératif
Je hais	Nous haïssons	Hais
Tu hais	Vous haïssez	Haïssons
Il hait	Ils haïssent	Haïssez
		Qu'il (on) haïsse
		Qu'ils haïssent

In the first and second persons plural of the past definite (nous haïmes and vous haïtes), and in the third person singular of the imperfect subjunctive (qu'il haït) haïr has the diaeresis instead of the circumflex accent.

No preposition is used after haïr except in the passive: Il est haï de tout le monde.

4. Battre, to beat

Verbs ending in -attre lose one of the t's of the radical in the three persons singular of the present indicative and the second person singular of the imperative. In all other tenses and persons, conjugate them like rendre, Par. 50.

Indicatif Présent

Je bats	I beat
Tu bats	thou beatest
Il bat	he beats
On bat	one beats
Nous battons	we beat
Vous battez	you beat
Ils battent	they beat

Impératif

Bats	beat (thou)
Battons	let us beat
Battez	beat (you)
Qu'il batte	let him beat
Qu'on batte	let one beat
Qu'ils battent	let them beat

In the same manner conjugate:

Abattre, to pull down
Combattre, to combat, to fight
Débattre, to debate, to discuss.
Rabattre, to abate, to deduct
Rebattre, to beat again

5. Rompre, to break

Verbs ending in -ompre take t after the p in the third person singular of the present indicative.

Indicatif Présent

Je romps	Nous rompons
Tu romps	Vous rompez
Il rompt	Ils rompent

The other tenses and persons are conjugated like rendre, Par. 50. Note rule for present indicative, Pars. 113–114.

Conjugate like rompre:

Corrompre, to corrupt, to vitiate. Interrompre, to interrupt.

See Verb Dictionary under Casser.

69. AUXILIARIES

For classification as to auxiliaries, all French verbs may be divided into Reflexive Verbs, Transitive Verbs, Intransitive Verbs (including Impersonal Verbs)

1. All Reflexive Verbs are conjugated with être:

Je me suis flatté. I have flattered myself.
Elles se sont écrit. They wrote to each other.

2. All transitive verbs (except reflexive transitive verbs) are conjugated with avoir:

J'ai vendu le cheval. I have sold the horse.
Je l'ai vendu. I have sold it.

NOTE. — A transitive verb in French, as in English, may be used passively; in which case être becomes the auxiliary, as to be in English:

Le cheval est vendu. The horse is sold.
Il avait été vendu. He had been sold.

3. Most intransitive verbs are conjugated with avoir. The list of exceptions is a small one.

70. EXCEPTIONS

a. Intransitive verbs expressing motion; such as going and coming, going in, coming out, etc. They are:

LIST 1

Arriver, to arrive.	Sortir, to go out, to come out.
Aller, to go.	Tomber, to fall.
Entrer, to come (go) in.	Retomber, to fall again.
Partir, to set out, start, to leave.	Retourner, to go back.
Rentrer, to come in again, etc.	Venir, to come.
Repartir, to start again, etc.	Revenir, to come back.

NOTE. — Some of these verbs are also used transitively, and when so used require, of course, the auxiliary avoir.

Examples:

Jean a sorti le cheval. John has taken out the horse.
Qui a sorti ce livre de la bibliothèque? Who took this book out of the bookcase?
Entrez ces chaises. Take in those chairs.
On a tombé cet auteur. That author has been roasted. (Fam.)

b. Intransitive verbs expressing in their compound tenses result of an action or a state (unchanged).

LIST 2

Décéder, to die, to expire.	Naître, to be born.
Devenir, to become.	Parvenir, to attain.
Disconvenir, to deny.	Provenir, to come from.
Échoir, to become due (as a note).	Redevenir, to become again.
Éclore, to blow; to be hatched.	Survenir, to happen.
Mourir, to die.

Besides the above limited lists, there are a few intransitive verbs which require être if they express a state or a result of an action, but which require avoir if used transitively (with direct objects), or if the action is emphasized:

LIST 3

Descendre, to go, come down.
Aborder, to land; to approach (accost).
Accourir, to run up; to run to.
Apparaître, to appear.
Croître, to grow.
Déborder, to overflow.
Déchoir, to decay.
Demeurer, to stay, remain; to dwell, reside.
Disparaître, to disappear.
Échapper, to escape.
Fleurir, to blossom.
Grandir, to grow; to grow up.
Passer, to pass.
Rester, to remain; to stay.
Convenir, to agree; to be of accord.
Comparaître, to appear, as before a court (legal).
Décroître, to decrease, to grow less.
Monter, to go up, come up.
Remonter, to go up again, to come up again.

71. A knowledge of the above three rules, and a study of the three lists of exceptions under Rule 3, should eliminate for the student any difficulty in deciding what auxiliary to use for a verb not conjugated in full.

He will see that in the large majority of cases avoir is the auxiliary. That être is invariably used for reflexive verbs; for the verbs in list 1, expressing motion and not transitive; always for the verbs in list 2; and for the verbs in list 3 except as indicated above. See Verb Dictionary for examples.

72. To assist in determining when action and when state is expressed by the verbs of list 3, the following remarks may be useful:

1. The attending circumstances generally indicate whether action or state is to be expressed.

Examples:

The Loire River overflowed this morning. La Loire a débordé ce matin.

Avoir is used because the action of ceasing is the prominent idea.

The Loire River (has) overflowed; is out of its banks. La Loire est débordée.

Être is used because the idea of the overflowed condition is prominent.

La rivière a monté rapidement. The river rose rapidly.
Il est monté à sa chambre. He has gone up to his room.
La procession a passé par ici. The procession has passed here.
La procession est passée. The procession has (is) passed.

It will be noted that wherever avoir is used in the foregoing examples, the action is emphasized, and generally the verb is modified by an adverb.

2. In most cases when state is to be expressed the verb to be can be substituted in English; and cannot be when action is expressed. Compare examples under remark 1. Further examples follow.

Nous sommes convenus du prix. We have (are) agreed as to the price.
Cette maison vous aurait fort bien convenu. That house would have suited you very well.

Note that the verb convenir has a different meaning when used transitively. It means, then, to suit. When used intransitively it means to agree, to be of accord, and requires de before a following noun or infinitive.

Nous sommes descendus lui dire adieu. We came down to bid him good-by.
Le baromètre a descendu rapidement de quatre degrés. The barometer went down (dropped) rapidly four degrees.
Guillaume a descendu vos malles. William has brought your trunk down.
Le cerf a échappé aux chiens. The stag escaped the dogs.
Cette chose m'est échappée de la mémoire. That matter has slipped from (escaped) my memory.

See Part II for a discussion of other English auxiliaries.

73. THE REFLEXIVE VERB

A reflexive verb in French, like a reflexive verb in English, is a verb one of whose objects (direct or indirect) represents the same person or thing as the subject of the verb.

Consequently a reflexive verb is always accompanied by an objective pronoun of the same person as the subject of the verb.

These objective pronouns are the same in form as the ordinary objective pronouns, except in the third person, where a separate reflexive form is necessary to avoid ambiguity. That is, the reflexive pronouns me, te, nous, and vous are the same as the ordinary objective pronouns used with all verbs; but the objective pronoun for the third person is se; whereas in verbs not reflexive the objective pronouns (third person) are le, la, les (direct), and lui, leur (indirect).

Therefore in conjugating a reflexive verb, write it always as in the case of any ordinary verb; and then put in the proper objective pronouns, remembering that the position of these (objective) pronouns, as in the case of all objective pronouns with a verb, is before the verb except in the imperative affirmative, where it is after the verb.

A peculiarity of the reflexive verb in French is that it is always conjugated with the auxiliary être, to be; whereas in English we use to have.

Therefore in translating from English into French, we must, in the reflexive verb, turn the English auxiliary to have into the corresponding tense of être, to be. And conversely, when translating a French reflexive into English we must translate the auxiliary être by the corresponding tense of to have.

74. CONJUGATION OF THE REFLEXIVE VERB SE LAVER = TO WASH ONE'S SELF (MODEL VERB)

Reflexive verbs are conjugated with two pronouns of the same person; the pronouns are:

Je me, 1st Pers. Sing.
Tu te, 2d Pers. Sing.
Il se / Elle se } 3d Pers. Sing.

Nous nous, 1st Pers. Pl.
Vous vous, 2d Pers. Pl.
Ils se / Elles se } 3d Pers. Pl.

Like se laver, conjugate:

Se lever, to get up.

Note that the French say I raise myself at six o'clock, Je me lève à six heures; whereas we say I rise (or I get up) at six.

S'amuser, to enjoy one's self (to amuse one's self).

This is the usual verb to correspond to our expression to have a good time (to enjoy one's self): Vous êtes-vous bien amusé hier soir au théâtre (ou chez Mme. B.)? Did you have a good time (enjoy yourself) last night at the theater (or at Mrs. B.'s)?

S'amuser requires à before the infinitive: Pendant deux heures il s'est amusé à retoucher les peintures. During two hours he amused himself touching up the paintings.

Se parler, to speak to each other (to one another, to one's self).

S'aimer, to love each other (one another, one's self).

Note that Nous nous aimons, We love ourselves, may mean We love each other or one another.

When the meaning We love each other, or one another, is not clearly shown by the context, the pronouns l'un l'autre or les uns les autres are used: Nous nous aimons l'un l'autre. We love each other. Ils s'aiment les uns les autres. They love one another.

When the objective pronoun is indirect, as in Elles se sont écrit (des lettres), there is used after the verb (if necessary to make the meaning clear) the forms l'un (l'une) à l'autre or les uns (les unes) aux autres.

75. Note in the negative conjugation of the reflexive verb that nothing separates the objective pronoun from the verb except another pronoun; therefore the ne comes before the objective pronoun.

Note that in the negative the objective pronoun remains before the verb throughout instead of coming after it in the imperative as it does in the imperative affirmative.

Se moquer de, to laugh at, to make fun of. Elle se moquait de lui. She was making sport of him.

80. CONJUGATION OF THE REFLEXIVE VERB S'EN ALLER

The reflexive verb s'en aller has the peculiarity of having two pronouns before it. The pronoun en means of it, of them, or from it, from them. Hence before the verb aller, to go, it gives the meaning to go away.

When en occurs with other pronouns before a verb it always comes after all the others.

In the imperative affirmative it still remains after the other pronouns; so we have allez-vous-en, go away.

The verb se flatter means to flatter one's self. For practice insert en before flatter and conjugate like s'en aller.

S'en flatter, to flatter one's self on account of it.
Elle s'en flatte. She flatters herself on it (on account of it).

85. In English we say He stopped the carriage. The carriage stopped. We call the verb in the last sentence intransitive.

The French turn a transitive into a reflexive verb in such cases, with the idea that the transitive verb should remain transitive. The carriage stopped is therefore in French La voiture s'est arrêtée (the carriage stopped itself).

86. Conjugate the following reflexive verbs:

S'arrêter, to stop, to stay
Se baisser (pour w. inf.), to stoop
S'enhardir (à w. inf.), to grow bold
Se lever, to get up, rise
Se réjouir (de w. inf.), to rejoice
S'abaisser (à, pour w. inf.), to stoop, to lower one's self to

Elle se baissa pour entrer par la petite porte. She stooped to (in order to) enter the small door.

Elle s'abaisse pour vaincre. She stoops to conquer.

S'enhardir. Je me suis enhardi à vous demander la permission de sortir. I have made bold to ask you for permission to go out.

Se réjouir. Je me suis réjoui d'apprendre que votre frère se rétablissait de sa maladie. I rejoiced to learn that your brother was recovering from his illness.

87. THE IMPERSONAL VERB

In French a great many verbs can be used impersonally by placing before the third person singular of the proper tense the pronoun il, just as we use in English the introductory subject it and sometimes there. Il semble —. It seems —.

As in English, there are also verbs in French used always impersonally, with reference to the phenomena of nature, etc.; as Il neige. It snows (is snowing).

Besides these there are in French a few verbs which are essentially impersonal, and which cannot have a personal subject; such as falloir, y avoir, s'agir, s'en falloir.

The past participle of an impersonal verb is invariable.

Y avoir means literally, there to have, but its English equivalent is there to be.

As we have noticed, être is often translated into English by to have; as is the case in reflexive verbs and "verbs of motion." In the case of y avoir, avoir is translated by to be; so, Il y a un livre sur la table (lit., It there has a book on the table) is translated by our idiom There is a book on the table.

As y avoir is a true impersonal verb it is used only in the third person singular. Therefore:

Il y a also means there are. Il y a trois livres sur la table. There are three books on the table.

92. THE IMPERSONAL VERB FALLOIR

Falloir means literally to be necessary. It is often best translated by must, should, or ought to, or to need.

It is used with the person or thing upon which the necessity rests, as indirect object (generally a dative pronoun) followed by an infinitive:

Il me faut écrire une lettre. It to me is necessary to write a letter; I must write a letter.
Il vous faut étudier. Il lui faut travailler.

If there is no doubt as to whom the necessity applies, the indirect object pronoun is generally omitted:

Il fallait m'écrire (si vous n'aviez plus d'argent). You should (ought to) have written to me (if you had no more money).
Il fallait venir plus tôt. You should have come sooner

Falloir is followed by an infinitive without the indirect object when expressing general obligation:

Il faut faire cela. That must be done.

Que faut-il faire pour réussir? What must one do to succeed? (Literally, What is it necessary to do in order to succeed?)

Falloir is very often followed by que and a subjunctive clause and must be so used when to use a pronoun with an infinitive would cause ambiguity.

Il faut qu'il parte; il faut qu'elle reste. He must leave; she must remain.

Note that no preposition is used after falloir before an infinitive, or before a noun used as direct object.

Il me faut de l'argent. There to me is necessary some money. I need some money.
Il leur fallait des livres. They needed some books. Il faut aux enfants des souliers. The children need shoes.

If a general need is expressed, the indirect object is omitted:

Il faut de l'argent (pour faire cela). Money is needed, is necessary (to do that).

See the Verb Dictionary for further idiomatic uses of falloir.

97. IMPERSONAL VERB S'EN FALLOIR = TO BE WANTING; TO BE LACKING; TO BE FAR FROM

S'en falloir means literally To itself of it (some) is necessary.

Hence, Il s'en faut que leur nombre soit complet means It to itself some is lacking (necessary) that their number be complete; or, freely, Their number is far from being complete.

S'en falloir requires that the verb in the subordinate clause be in the subjunctive, and that it be preceded by ne when there is doubt, interrogation, or negation.

Generally de peu or de beaucoup is used with s'en falloir. S'en falloir may be best translated by To be nearly, to be far from; or by lacks but little, lacks a great deal of being. The student will notice that (as illustrated in the following examples) in order to get a free translation we use a personal subject in the English translation, but he must remember that s'en falloir is a true impersonal verb.

Examples of use of s'en falloir:

Il s'en faut de peu que cette bouteille ne soit pleine. Or Peu s'en faut que cette bouteille ne soit pleine. That bottle is nearly full. Or That bottle lacks but little of being full.

Il s'en faut de beaucoup qu'ils aient l'argent nécessaire. They are far from having the necessary money. Beaucoup s'en faut qu'ils aient l'argent nécessaire. They lack a great deal of having the necessary money.

Il s'en faut de beaucoup qu'ils puissent faire cela. They are far from being able to do that.

Oui, il s'en faut de beaucoup. Yes, far from it.

Conjugate s'en falloir negatively, interrogatively, and negatively and interrogatively.

99. THE IMPERSONAL VERB S'AGIR

S'agir is another verb expressing incomplete action. Its meaning is generally completed by de followed by a noun or an infinitive.

Agir means to act, to operate; hence, Il s'agit de faire cela means literally It acts, operates, to itself of doing that. We can best translate it by It is a question, or a matter, of doing that.

Il s'agit de sa vie. It is a question of his life.

Il s'agissait d'agir immédiatement. It was a question of acting immediately. The question (point) was to act immediately.

Advenir is used more than avenir.

Il est advenu que la guerre a éclaté le même jour. It happened that the war broke out the same day.

The student should compare advenir with the use of arriver as an impersonal verb. Advenir is used of happenings which are perhaps of greater importance than those with reference to which arriver is used.

Il est arrivé à mon frère d'être absent ce jour-là. My brother happened to be absent that day.

Advenir is of frequent use in the idioms quoiqu'il advienne, whatever may happen; advienne que pourra, happen what will, may.

Convenir, to suit; to be expedient (used impersonally) is conjugated like advenir, but has the auxiliary avoir. Requires de before infinitive.

Il vous convient d'être poli. It is expedient for you to be polite.

Vous convient-il d'y aller aujourd'hui? Does it suit you to go to-day?

Convenir is also used as a personal verb. It is discussed under the verb venir, and in the Verb Dictionary.

102. IMPERSONAL VERBS USED IN DESCRIBING PHENOMENA OF NATURE

The following is a list of verbs used always impersonally with reference to the phenomena of nature:

Geler, to freeze.	Pleuvoir, to rain.	Bruiner, to drizzle.
Grêler, to hail.	Regeler, to freeze again.	Dégeler, to thaw.
Neiger, to snow.	Tonner, to thunder.	Faire des éclairs, to lighten.

Faire des éclairs, to make some (flashes of) lightning, corresponds to our verb lighten. The verb faire has already been conjugated. It is used frequently by the French as an impersonal verb. Other examples of its use can be found in the Verb Dictionary.

Conjugate the following impersonal verbs:
Bruiner, to drizzle. Conster, to appear (law term).
Importer, to be of importance. Tonner, to thunder.

Uses of importer:

Il n'importe pas. It matters not; it is of no importance.
Il n'importe guère (peu). It is of little importance; it matters little.

Importer is much used in the following idiomatic forms:

Que m'importe, que vous importe? What does it signify to me, to you? What is it to me, to you? What does it matter to me, to you?
N'importe qui. Whoever you like, any one; no matter who (whom).
N'importe quoi. No matter what.
N'importe. It doesn't matter; never mind.
N'importe quand. At any time, etc.

Importer requires de before an infinitive. Il importe de faire cela tout de suite.

The verb conster is little used, and only in legal procedure. The ordinary verb for to appear is paraître. Conster requires être in its compound tenses.

Cela is frequently used as the subject of impersonal verbs.

Cela arrive souvent. That happens often.
Cela me convient. That suits me.
Cela ne m'importe pas. That doesn't matter to me.

Importer is also used with personal subject: Ces personnes ne m'importent pas; ses actions ne m'importent pas.

107. THE PASSIVE VERB

1. The English use of the passive verb is very careless. Properly speaking, a passive verb should always be convertible into a transitive verb having as direct object the subject of the passive form. John was struck by James is a true passive form, and may be expressed by James struck John.

But we see in English such sentences as He was given the money. Putting this into the active voice we must write Some one gave (to) him the money; the subject of the passive form used becoming the indirect object.

We even find intransitive verbs used passively in English.

In French (with only two exceptions) a passive verb is always from a transitive verb, and the student must bear this in mind when translating English into French.

The two exceptions mentioned are obéir (to give obedience to, to obey) and désobéir (to disobey), which are intransitive verbs and require à in the active voice before an object; as Il a obéi à sa mère. He obeyed (gave obedience to) his mother.

We can say in French Elle a été obéie (a passive from an intransitive French verb).

2. The French do not use the passive so much as the English. They use it only when the construction is truly a passive one, as shown above.

For the many so-called passive constructions in English the French have two constructions which enable them to avoid the passive.

One of these constructions is the active form of the verb with on. The other is the reflexive verb.

In English, we say It is said that it will snow to-morrow; the French say On dit qu'il neigera demain. In English we say Apples are sold cheaper this year than last; the French say Les pommes se vendent à meilleur marché cette année que l'année passée.

So, Where is that silk sold? is, in French, Où cette soie se vend-elle? or Où vend-on cette soie?

The student should familiarize himself with the use of these French constructions.

3. Note that the use of tenses in the passive verb corresponds to their use in the active voice.

César prit la ville de Pompéii (passé déf.). Caesar captured the city of Pompeii.

La ville de Pompéii fut prise par César (passé déf.). The city of Pompeii was captured by Caesar.

L'ennemi a pris cette ville hier (passé indéf.). The enemy captured that city yesterday.

Cette ville a été prise hier (passé indéf.). That city was captured yesterday (i.e. the action of capture was performed yesterday).

La ville était prise hier (imparfait du passif). The city was captured (i.e. in a state of capture) yesterday.

Note the difference in the last two sentences, and guard against using the imparfait of the passive when the passé indéf. should be used.

The passive form of a verb in French, as in English, is always conjugated with être, to be.

108. AGREEMENT OF THE PAST PARTICIPLE

1. The past participle of all verbs conjugated with être, except reflexive verbs, agrees in gender and number with the subject.

Examples:

Elles sont venues. They have come.

Ces lettres ont été renvoyées. Those letters have been sent back.

2. The past participle of all other verbs, including reflexive verbs, agrees in gender and number with the direct object of the verb when the direct object precedes the past participle.

Examples:

Avez-vous pris la lettre? Did you take the letter?

Mon frère l'a prise. My brother took it.

Elles se sont flattées. They (fem.) flattered themselves.

But . . . . Elles se sont écrit (des lettres). They wrote (to) each other.

3. The past participle of an impersonal verb is invariable.

FORMATION OF TENSES

109. REMARKS ON THE FORMATION OF TENSES

Before he begins to study the conjugation of the irregular verbs, the student should refresh his mind as to the remarks which have been given from time to time in the preceding part of the text concerning the formation of different tenses.

He should acquire the habit of constructing the tenses from the principal parts or primitive tenses, applying the rules that have been given him.

Having acquired this habit and having studied the different classifications of irregular verbs, he will find little difficulty in their use.

110. A recapitulation of the rules for forming the different tenses is here given, with tables of the endings of the tenses of the four conjugations.

The five primitive tenses are:

The Infinitive. The Past Participle.
The Present Participle. The Present Indicative.
The First Person of the Past Definite.

The remaining tenses of the verb are derived from the above primitive tenses or principal parts as follows:

The endings of the present infinitives of the four conjugations are: er, ir, oir, and re.

1. FROM THE INFINITIVE DERIVE:

a. The Future Indicative by adding to the Infinitive the endings ai, as, a, ons, ez, ont.

The future of all verbs therefore ends in:

SINGULAR			PLURAL
1st Pers.	2d Pers.	3d Pers.	1st Pers.	2d Pers.	3d Pers.
rai	ras	ra	rons	rez	ront

See note 1, below.

b. The Present Conditional by adding to the Infinitive the endings ais, ais, ait, ions, iez, aient.

The conditional of all verbs ends in:

SINGULAR			PLURAL
1st Pers.	2d Pers.	3d Pers.	1st Pers.	2d Pers.	3d Pers.
rais	rais	rait	rions	riez	raient

NOTE 1. — In forming the Future Indicative and the Present Conditional from the Infinitive as directed, the oi of the ending oir is dropped in the third conjugation; and the e of the ending re of the fourth conjugation. Thus the future of recevoir is je recevrai, tu recevras, il recevra, nous recevrons, vous recevrez, ils recevront. The conditional (pres.) of rendre is je rendrais, tu rendrais, etc. See Par. 51, 6.

The present participle ends in ant in all verbs.

2. FROM THE PRESENT PARTICIPLE DERIVE:

a. The Three Persons Plural of the Present Indicative by changing the termination ant of the present participle to ons, ez, ent.

NOTE 2. — There are three exceptions to the rule for forming the Plural of the Present Indicative from the Present Participle. The exceptions are:

Aller	Dire	Faire
je vais	je dis	je fais
tu vas	tu dis	tu fais
il va	il dit	il fait
nous allons	nous disons	nous faisons
vous allez	vous dites	vous faites
ils vont	ils disent	ils font

b. The Imperfect Indicative in all verbs by changing the termination ant of the present participle to

SINGULAR			PLURAL
1st Pers.	2d Pers.	3d Pers.	1st Pers.	2d Pers.	3d Pers.
ais	ais	ait	ions	iez	aient

c. The Present Subjunctive in all verbs by changing the termination ant of the present participle to e, es, e, ions, iez, ent.

NOTE. — The past participle ends in e, i, u, t, or s.

3. FROM THE PAST PARTICIPLE DERIVE:

All the Compound Tenses by placing before it the proper auxiliary, which may be avoir or être, as heretofore explained.

4. The Present Indicative.

1. The First Person Singular of the Present Indicative always ends in e or s.

When the first person ends in e, the second ends in es, the third in e.

If the first person ends in s, the second also ends in s; the third in t or d; in d, if d is found in the stem.

SINGULAR
1st Pers.	2d Pers.	3d Pers
je	tu	il elle
e	es	e
s	s	t or d

NOTE 3. — The following verbs are exceptions:

Convaincre	Vaincre	Pouvoir	Vouloir	Valoir	Aller
je convaincs	je vaincs	je puis	je veux	je vaux	je vais
tu convaincs	tu vaincs	tu peux	tu veux	tu vaux	tu vas
il convainc	il vainc	il peut	il veut	il vaut	il va
nous convainquons	nous vainquons	nous pouvons	nous voulons	nous valons	nous allons
vous convainquez	vous vainquez	vous pouvez	vous voulez	vous valez	vous allez
ils convainquent	ils vainquent	ils peuvent	ils veulent	ils valent	ils vont

From the Present Indicative derive:

a. The Second Person Singular of the Imperative by dropping the pronoun je of the first person singular; as je pars, pars.

b. The First and Second Persons Plural of the Imperative by dropping the pronouns nous and vous in the corresponding forms of the present indicative; as nous partons, vous partez, partons, partez.

The third persons singular and plural of the imperative are identical with the third persons singular and plural of the present subjunctive.

5. The Past Definite.

From the First Person Singular of the Past Definite are derived:

a. The remaining forms of the Past Definite by changing the termination s to s, t, mes, tes, rent; as je parti*s*, tu parti*s*, il parti*t*, nous partî*mes*, vous partî*tes*, ils parti*rent.

Endings of the Past Definite

ai	as	a	âmes	âtes	èrent	1st conjugation
is	is	it	îmes	îtes	irent	2d conjugation
us	us	ut	ûmes	ûtes	urent	3d conjugation
is	is	it	îmes	îtes	irent	4th conjugation

Note. — The first person of the past definite of the first conjugation does not end in s, but in i. The above rule for deriving the remaining forms of the past definite becomes, for the first conjugation:

Change the termination ai to as for the 2d person, to a for the 3d person, and change it to âmes, âtes, and èrent for the three persons plural.

b. The Imperfect Subjunctive by changing the termination i or s of the First Person Singular Past Definite to sse, sses, t, ssions, ssiez, ssent; as je parti*s, que je parti*sse, que tu parti*sses, qu'il partî*t, que nous parti*ssions, que vous parti*ssiez, qu'ils parti*ssent.

In the third person singular of the imperfect subjunctive, and in the first and second persons plural of the past definite a circumflex accent is placed over the vowel preceding the terminations t, mes, tes; as qu'il partî*t, nous partî*mes, vous partî*tes.

Endings of the Imperfect Subjunctive

asse	asses	ât	assions	assiez	assent
isse	isses	ît	issions	issiez	issent
usse	usses	ût	ussions	ussiez	ussent
isse	isses	ît	issions	issiez	issent

111. Hereafter, unless otherwise directed, the verb should always be written on the blackboard by the student according to the following model:

	Impf. Subj.	servisse	servisses	servît	servissions	servissiez	servissent

The three persons plural of the present indicative are written twice; once as a derivative tense; and, second, as a primitive tense for the imperative.

THE IRREGULAR VERBS

CONJUGATION OF IRREGULAR VERBS

112. THE FIRST CONJUGATION

Besides aller (and s'en aller), already conjugated, the only irregular verbs of the first conjugation are envoyer and renvoyer.

Envoyer and renvoyer change y into i before an e mute; see table of verbs having orthographical peculiarities, Par. 51. They are irregular in the future indicative and the present conditional.

Note the variations from the rules for deriving tenses from the Primitive Tenses.

Que j'eusse voulu, etc. that I might have wished, etc.

The imperative veux, voulons, voulez, is very seldom used, and only to excite in a person a strong determined will: Veux et tu réussiras. Voulez et l'on vous obéira. Voulons et il cédera.

The second person plural veuillez is generally used, and means Be so good as, be so kind as.

Veuillez me prêter votre livre. Be so good as to lend me your book.

Revouloir, to wish anew, to will again, is conjugated like vouloir.

Vouloir is used before an infinitive without preposition.

Il voulait partir hier. He wished to start yesterday.

It must not be forgotten that vouloir means to will and to be willing, as well as to wish.

Contrast the following:

1. Voulez-vous me dire cela maintenant? Will you (are you willing to) tell me that now?
2. Me la direz-vous aujourd'hui ou demain? Will you tell it to me to-day or to-morrow? (Simple futurity.)
3. Si vous aviez voulu m'écouter. If you had been willing to listen to me.

Je veux, unmodified, is very strong in French; being equal to I will, I insist upon. It must not be used to translate polite requests or desires; such as I wish to see some gloves; I would like some water; etc.

In such sentences the French use the conditional of vouloir, or the verb désirer: Je désire de l'eau; je désire voir des gants. Je voudrais voir des gants; voulez-vous me montrer des gants?

The first person present indicative has two forms: je puis and je peux. Interrogatively, say: puis-je, and not peux-je.

The negations pas and point may be omitted with pouvoir.

Je ne puis signifies difficulties or obstacles. It denies less strongly than Je ne puis pas: Je ne puis le croire.

Pas simply announces a negation; point expresses it with force, makes an absolute, emphatic denial. Point is rarely used in conversation.

Only one r is sounded in the future and the conditional of pouvoir.

Pouvoir requires no preposition before an infinitive. It translates can, could; may, might.

Vous pouvez partir demain. You may (can) leave to-morrow.
Il pouvait l'essayer. He could (might) try it.
Cela se peut. That may be.

Savoir requires no preposition before an infinitive:

Mon frère sait faire cela. My brother knows how to (can) do this.

Savoir translates can before an infinitive when can means to have the requisite knowledge, experience, or skill to do anything:

Savez-vous nager? Can you (do you know how to) swim?

Il sait jouer du piano, mais il ne peut jouer ce soir; il s'est fait mal au doigt. He can (knows how to) play the piano, but he cannot (is unable to) play this evening; he has hurt his finger.

Savoir, which means mental knowledge or information, must be carefully distinguished from connaître, to know, in the sense of to be acquainted with (see Par. 137).

Je sais ma leçon. I know my lesson.

Je connais ce monsieur. I know (am acquainted with) this gentleman.

Je connais la maison. I know the house (am familiar or acquainted with it).

* NOTE. — The French have the word savant, but it is used as a noun and as an adjective.

Un savant; un homme savant. A scholar; a learned man.

J'eus vu, etc.	I had seen, etc.	Que j'eusse vu, etc.	that I might have seen, etc.

Futur Antérieur

J'aurai vu, etc.	I shall have seen, etc.

Voir governs an infinitive without preposition !

Je le vois venir.

Voyons ! Come ! Let me see ! Let us see ! (Much used exclamatorily.)

See dictionary for special idiomatic uses.

Like voir conjugate:

Entrevoir, to have a glimpse of.

Revoir, to see again.

Prévoir, to foresee, is conjugated like voir, except in the future and the conditional:

Future: Je prévoirai, tu prévoiras, il prévoira, nous prévoirons, vous prévoirez, ils prévoiront.

Conditional: Je prévoirais, tu prévoirais, il prévoirait, nous prévoirions, vous prévoiriez, ils prévoiraient.

Valoir is used before an infinitive with mieux, in the sense of It is better, etc.:

Il vaut mieux rester que (de) partir. It is better to remain than to leave.

The de before the second infinitive, though generally used, is optional.

The French say a house or a thing is worth so much money; as La maison vaut dix mille francs; but they do not say a person is worth (vaut) so much.

They say Cet homme a une fortune de dix mille francs. That man is worth (has a fortune of) ten thousand francs.

Il a un revenu de cinq mille francs. He is worth (has an income of) five thousand francs (a year).

Like valoir conjugate:

Revaloir, to return (like for like). Équivaloir, to be equivalent.

Prévaloir, to prevail, is conjugated like valoir, except in the present subjunctive: Que je prévale, que tu prévales, qu'il prévale, que nous prévalions, que vous prévaliez, qu'ils prévalent.

119. The verb asseoir has two forms for its conjugation; the first is generally used.

The Future and the Conditional have a third form.

Future: Je m'asseyerai, tu t'asseyeras, il s'asseyera, nous nous asseyerons, vous vous asseyerez, ils s'asseyeront, I shall sit down, etc.

Conditional: Je m'asseyerais, tu t'asseyerais, il s'asseyerait, nous nous asseyerions, vous vous asseyeriez, ils s'asseyeraient, I should sit down, etc.

Note that while asseoir means to seat (a transitive verb), the French say faire asseoir quelqu'un, to cause some one to sit down, instead of faire s'asseoir quelqu'un.

Have the ladies sit down. Faites asseoir les dames.
Have them sit down. Faites les asseoir.

Note the difference in use of s'asseoir and asseoir passive:

Elle s'est assise. She sat down.
Elle était assise. She was sitting down (was seated).

Like pourvoir, conjugate:
Dépourvoir, to divest, to strip.

Dépourvoir is mostly used in the past definite and the infinitive.

Pourvoir is used transitively and intransitively.

We can say Pourvoir aux besoins de quelqu'un. To provide for the needs of any one.

Or, Pourvoir quelqu'un de quelque chose. To provide some one (any one) with anything, something.

Ils se livrent à la chasse pour pourvoir à leur alimentation. Il a pourvu son fils d'argent. Son fils est pourvu d'argent.

But do not say Pourvoir l'argent, les choses à or pour quelqu'un, etc., because pourvoir means literally to make provision for.

To translate He provided the necessary money, things, etc., use the verb fournir, to furnish, to supply, to provide.

Like mouvoir, conjugate:

Émouvoir, to stir up, to move.
Promouvoir, to promote (see the Defective Verbs).

The past participle of mouvoir takes a circumflex accent only in the m.s., mû.

Mouvoir means to move, to put in motion, and compared with the English verb to move, its use is very limited. It expresses motion in a general way.

We can say La foule, l'armée, meut. The crowd, the army, moves, is moving. In the sense of to put in motion, faire mouvoir is more frequently used than mouvoir alone.

L'eau (la vapeur) fait mouvoir la machine, le moulin, etc. The water (the steam) moves, sets in motion, the engine, the mill, etc.

Le vent meut (fait mouvoir) le feuillage des arbres. The wind is moving the foliage of the trees.

But the student must learn that the English verb to move is translated into French by a great many different verbs, depending upon the meaning. Study examples below.

The verb to move

Move that chair. Changez cette chaise de place.
Move that chair away. Éloignez cette chaise. Take that chair away. Enlevez cette chaise.
Move that chair back again. Remettez cette chaise à sa place.
Move that chair back. Reculez cette chaise.
Move that chair into the house. Entrez cette chaise (dans la maison).
Move that chair forward a little. Avancez un peu cette chaise.
Move that chair up (to the fire). Rapprochez cette chaise (du feu).
Move that chair to the other room. Transportez cette chaise dans l'autre salle.
Move that chair out of the house. Sortez cette chaise de la maison.
Move that picture down a little. Baissez un peu ce tableau.
The horse moves the carriage. Le cheval fait aller la voiture.

Surseoir, to delay, must not be confused with retarder, différer, remettre, to delay. Surseoir is used only in a legal sense.

It may be used transitively; but is generally used intransitively, and followed by à before a noun.

Le juge a sursis au jugement. The judge suspended, delayed, judgment.
On va surseoir à la nomination des juges. The appointment of the judges will be delayed.

It is used also impersonally. Il sera sursis à l'exécution (capitale). The execution will be delayed.

Tenir	avoir	to hold
Appartenir	avoir	to belong
Contenir	avoir	to contain
Détenir	avoir	to detain, keep
Entretenir	avoir	to maintain, converse

	Auxiliary
Provenir (de)	être	to proceed, arise from
Redevenir	être	to become again
Se souvenir (de)	être	to remember, recollect
Revenir	être	to come back
Se ressouvenir	être	to remember, recollect

Maintenir	avoir	to maintain
Obtenir	avoir	to obtain
Retenir	avoir	to retain
Soutenir	avoir	to sustain
S'abstenir (de)	être	to abstain from

I. In the above verbs, the n is doubled when followed by e mute.

II. The verbs ending in tenir take avoir in their compound tenses.

Venir, being a "verb of motion," is conjugated with être.

In the sense of to come, it is used before an infinitive without preposition.

Je viendrai vous voir demain. I shall come to see you to-morrow.
Il est venu me dire cela. He came and told me that.

NOTE. — Il est venu pour me dire cela means He came to (in order to) tell me that. (He may not have told me.)

Learn the two following idiomatic constructions with venir :

1. Venir à faire quelque chose. To happen to do a thing.

Si vous venez à le voir, dites-le-lui. If you happen to see him, tell him so.

2. Venir de faire quelque chose. To have just done something.

Je viens de le voir. I have just seen him. (Lit. I come from seeing him.)
Il venait de le faire. He had just done it.

Tenir, to hold, to keep, is conjugated with avoir, and used both transitively and intransitively.

Tenir, transitive, is used like to hold in English.

Elle tient un enfant dans ses bras.
Il tient un livre à la main (dans la main would mean within, covered by, the hand).
Il tient une boutique. He keeps a shop.

IDIOM. — Tenir quelque chose à honneur, à injure, etc., to hold, consider a thing as an honor, an insult. Je tiens vos actions à injure.

Tenir, intransitive, is used as to hold out, to hold firm, etc.

C'est un principe qui tient dans tous les cas. It is a principle that holds, stands good, in every case.

Tenir à, to hold to, stick to ; to be fond of, attached to, etc.

Il tient à son opinion. He holds to his opinion.

Tenir de, to resemble ; to proceed, arise, from.

Il tient de son père. He resembles his father.

Tenir de also is equivalent to to partake of, to participate in, the nature of.
Le mulet tient de l'âne et du cheval.

Tenir is used impersonally. It then requires à before persons and de before an infinitive following.

Il tient à vous de faire cela. It rests with you, depends upon you, to do that.

Note the much-used exclamation :

Tiens ! (tenez !) Here ; take it; take that !

Also corresponds sometimes to Americanism, Hello !

Tiens, tiens. Bless me ; bless my soul ! Well, I declare !

S'abstenir, to abstain (from). Requires de before a following noun or infinitive.

Je m'abstiens de faire ce qui peut nuire à mon voisin.

Disconvenir, to disown, to deny. Conjugated with être, and requires de before a noun or a past infinitive.

Il est disconvenu de cela. He denied that. Il est disconvenu d'avoir fait cela.

Convenir has been discussed under Impersonal Verbs, Par. 101, and under Auxiliaries, Par. 72. See also the Verb Dictionary.

Appartenir requires à before a following noun.

See Verb Dictionary for idiomatic expressions with above verbs.

Repartir, to set out again, is conjugated like partir. Repartir, to reply, is conjugated like partir, but its auxiliary is avoir.

Répartir, to divide, to distribute, is regular, like finir, Par. 46.

Départir, to dispense, to distribute, and se départir, to desist, to deviate, are conjugated like the verb partir.

Conjugate in the same manner as partir the following verbs, but use the auxiliary avoir unless être is indicated:

	Auxiliary			Auxiliary
Sentir	avoir	to feel	Pressentir	avoir	to foresee, to foreknow
Consentir	avoir	to consent	Ressentir	avoir	to resent
Démentir	avoir	to contradict	Se repentir	être	to repent (de, of)
Mentir	avoir	to lie	Redormir	avoir	to sleep again
Dormir	avoir	to sleep	Rendormir	avoir	to lull to sleep again, to put asleep again
Endormir	avoir	to lull to sleep
S'endormir	être	to fall asleep	Se rendormir	être	to fall asleep again
Servir	avoir	to serve; to make use of	Desservir	avoir	to clear the table

NOTE. — Asservir, to enslave, to subject, is regular; conjugated like finir, Par. 46.

Sortir, to go out; to take out.

Ressortir, to go out again. Sortir and ressortir are conjugated with avoir and être; with avoir to express action, with être to express the result of the action.

Sortir and ressortir, when transitive, take avoir.

Ressortir, to be under the jurisdiction of, is regular, like finir, Par. 46.

Examples:

Où est votre frère? Il est parti. Where is your brother? He has gone, left, started. Said of a gun, partir means to go off. Le fusil partit.

À quelle heure partez-vous? At what time (hour) do you start, set out? Nous partirons demain pour Paris. We start for Paris to-morrow.

Partir (verb of motion) is conjugated with être. In old French it was also used transitively (with avoir); but such use of it is now practically obsolete.

Sentir, to feel (by the perception); to smell.

J'ai beaucoup senti le froid ce matin. I have felt the cold very much this morning.

Il sent son ignorance. He is sensible of (feels) his ignorance

Il sent l'insulte. He feels the insult.

Elle sentit la rose. She smelt the rose.

Ces fleurs sentent bon. These flowers smell good.

Sentir.

Impersonally: Cela sent le gaz ici. There is an odor of gas here.

Dormir.

Il dort. He is asleep; he is sleeping.
(Il a sommeil. He is sleepy.)

Endormir.

La musique m'a endormi. The music put me to sleep.

S'endormir.

Je me suis endormi à minuit. I went to sleep at midnight.

Servir, to serve.

Il a servi le roi. He served the king.
La bonne a servi la viande. The maid served the meat.

Se servir de, to make use of, to use.

Il se sert de ma plume. He is using my pen.
Servez-vous de mes livres. Make use of my books.
Servez-vous-en. Use it, use them.

Sortir, to go out, to take out, has been discussed under Auxiliaries, Par. 72. It is used both intransitively (as verb of motion) and transitively.

Elle est sortie à deux heures. She went out at two o'clock.
Madame est-elle chez-elle? Madame est sortie. Is Mrs. —— in? Mrs. —— is out.

Madame in last two sentences could be well translated by, the lady of the house; your mistress.

Qui a sorti les plumes de mon tiroir? Who took the pens out of my drawer?

J'eus couru, etc. I had run, etc.

Futur Antérieur

J'aurai couru, etc. I shall have run, etc.

Subjonctif Plus-que-parfait

Que j'eusse couru, etc. that I might have run, etc.

Conjugate in the same manner:

Accourir, to run to.
Concourir, to compete, coöperate
Discourir, to discourse.
Encourir, to incur
Parcourir, to run over.
Recourir, to resort to, have recourse to.
Secourir, to relieve.

Accourir is conjugated with avoir, to have, and être, to be; avoir to express the action to run to, and être to express the result of that action, i.e. the state.

Courir and accourir, if used before a noun or pronoun in the sense of to run to or to run up to, require à.

Il accourut à moi. He ran up to me. (One cannot say Il m'accourut.)

Parcourir, to run over, means to make a hurried tour of; to glance over hurriedly, etc.

Aujourd'hui j'ai parcouru la ville, cherchant de quoi m'amuser. To-day I have run about (slang, knocked about) the city hunting something to amuse me.

Avez-vous lu ce livre? Je l'ai parcouru ce matin.

The carriage ran over the boy. La voiture a passé sur le corps du garçon.

Concourir. Followed by à (before noun or infinitive), concourir means to contribute to, to coöperate.

Les sciences concourent à civiliser la terre. The sciences coöperate in civilizing the world.

Followed by pour, concourir means to compete for.

Les élèves concourent pour le prix.

The verb is not used in the sense of to concur. See s'accorder avec.

Encourir, to incur, is not used in the sense of to incur expense, debts.

See s'endetter; faire une dépense; se créer des dettes.

But encourir des peines, des punitions, la colère de quelqu'un.

Like acquérir, conjugate:

Conquérir, to conquer. Requérir, to require, to beg. Reconquérir, to reconquer. S'enquérir (de), to inquire (for, about).

Acquérir is used in general like the verb to acquire in English; but it is not used in an uncomplimentary sense.

One can say Acquérir une bonne réputation.

One does not say Acquérir une mauvaise réputation.

In the last sense use gagner.

Conquérir is used with reference to a country.

Il a conquis ce pays. Il a conquis La Gaule.

With reference to people, the verbs vaincre and soumettre are used.

Les Japonnais ont vaincu les Russes.

Soumettre has the meaning of to subjugate.

Conjugate in the same manner:

S'enfuir, to run away. (See Par. 74.)

Fuir is used transitively and intransitively.

Il a fui le danger. He ran away from, fled from, the danger.

It generally indicates fear on the part of the one who runs away. As a transitive verb it is a synonym of éviter (to avoid), and éluder (to elude).

Fuir means also, to leak; said of a liquid or a gas, or of a vessel to hold liquid or gas.

Le vin fuit. The wine is leaking. Cette bouteille fuit. That bottle leaks.

S'enfuir, to run away, is a synonym of s'échapper and s'esquiver, to escape.

Mon bonheur s'est enfui. My happiness is gone, has fled. Le temps s'enfuit. Time flies. (Also, Le temps s'écoule.)

To run away, to escape, as from a room, when one wishes to avoid some one, is se sauver.

Quand il est entré, elle s'est sauvée. When he came in, she ran away

NOTE. — Bouillir, in a figurative sense, is used in all its tenses and persons. Je bous de colère.

Bouillir is no longer used transitively except in an idiom (given below).

We say L'eau bout, The water is boiling; Le lait a bouilli, The milk has boiled.

To express I boiled the water, milk, etc., use faire bouillir. To boil meat, vegetables, etc. Cuire (or faire cuire) de la viande, des légumes, etc., à l'eau (or dans de l'eau bouillante). To boil eggs. Cuire des œufs à la coque. To boil away. Se réduire à force de bouillir. Le potage était réduit de moitié (à force de bouillir).

Croire requires no preposition before an infinitive.

Je croyais l'avoir vu. I thought (believed) I had seen him.

But before a noun in sense of to believe in, to have faith in, croire requires either à or en.

Croire en Dieu ; en quelqu'un ; en les sciences ; etc.
Croire à une personne ; à la magie ; à quelque chose.

Croire à means to believe in the existence of or the possibility of.
Croire en includes believing in the existence of and also having complete trust or confidence in.
Note the following examples :

Je la croyais à Paris. I believed her to be at Paris.
Je la croyais heureuse. I believed her happy (to be happy).

Redire, to say again, is conjugated in the same way.

The following verbs are conjugated like dire except in the second person plural of the present indicative and of the imperative.

Contredire, to contradict	make	contredisez	instead of	contredites.
Dédire, to disown		dédisez		dédites.
Interdire, to forbid		interdisez		interdites.
Médire (de), to slander		médisez		médites.

Maudire is like dire except in pr. part. maudissant; pres. indic. (pl.) nous maudissons, vous maudissez, ils maudissent; imper. (pl.) maudissons, maudissez, etc. It is like finir.

In the sense of to tell any one to do anything, dire requires de before a following infinitive. Dire à quelqu'un de faire quelque chose. J'ai dit à mon frère de partir ce soir. I told (said to) my brother to leave this evening.

Dire must not be confused with parler. Parler is intransitive (except before names of languages) and means to talk, to speak. Dire is transitive and means to say, to tell.

We say to speak the truth. This in French is dire la vérité.

The thing said is the direct object; therefore tell him means say to him (dites-lui).

Médire, to speak ill of (to slander), requires de before a following noun. Il a médit de vous. He has spoken ill of (slandered) you.

Like connaître, conjugate:

Apparaître, to appear.
Comparaître, to appear (before a court).
Disparaître, to disappear.
Méconnaître, not to know.
Paraître, to appear, to look.
Reconnaître, to know again.
Reparaître, to appear again.

Apparaître is conjugated with avoir when it expresses an action, and with être when a state.
The i of connaître, and verbs conjugated as connaître, preserves the circumflex accent when followed by t.
Connaître, to be acquainted with, must not be confused with savoir, to know.
Savoir means to know through mental knowledge or experience; because of having gained or acquired information:

Je sais ma leçon. See savoir, Par. 116.

Se connaître à (en) means to be a judge of; to be an expert (a connoisseur) in:

Je me connais en peinture. I'm a judge of painting.
Il s'y connaît. He's a connoisseur, an authority in it (or as to it); He understands all about it.

Admettre, to admit.
Commettre, to commit.
Compromettre, to compromise.
Démettre, to dismiss, to dislocate
Émettre, to issue, to emit.
S'entremettre, to intervene.
Omettre (de), to omit, to before infinitive.
Permettre (de), to permit, to before infinitive.
Promettre (de), to promise, to before infinitive.
Réadmettre, to readmit.
Remettre, to put again.
Repromettre (de), to promise again.
Soumettre, to submit, to subjugate.
Transmettre, to transmit.

Mettre is not used before an infinitive. To correspond to our expression to put (or set) any one to do something, the French use engager, porter, employer, quelqu'un à faire quelque chose.

Se mettre à means to put one's self to or at; hence, to begin, to commence, to set about something.

Se mettre à faire quelque chose, to set about (commence) doing something.

Omettre, permettre, promettre, and repromettre require de before a following infinitive.

Il m'a permis de rester jusqu'à demain.

Like plaire, conjugate:

Déplaire à, to displease. Complaire (à), to please, humor.

Plaire (to be pleasing, agreeable to) requires à before a following noun. Il plaît à sa mère.

Plaire and déplaire are used impersonally with de before a following infinitive.

Il lui plaît de faire cela. It pleases him to do that.

Se plaire à . . . before a noun or an infinitive means to take a delight in. Il se plaît à mal faire.

Conjugate in the same manner:

Renaître, to be born again, to spring forth (or up) again, is conjugated in the same manner, but has no past participle and no compound tenses.

Naître means to be born or to spring forth. In the latter meaning its use is generally figurative or poetic.

Je nais means literally I am born; therefore je suis né means I have been born or I was born.

Qu'une jeune nation naisse. Let a young nation (people) spring up (be born).
De nouvelles idées sont nées. New ideas sprang up (were born).

Rire requires de before a following noun or infinitive. Il a ri de vous voir couvert de poussière.

To laugh at (as a joke, something amusing), when no idea of ridicule or mockery is contained, is expressed by rire de:

Il a bien ri de votre anecdote. He laughed heartily at your anecdote.

De quoi riez-vous? Il n'y a pas de quoi rire. *What are you laughing at? There is nothing to laugh at (or This is not a laughing matter).

To laugh at, with an idea of raillery or ridicule, is expressed by se rire de. Elle se rit de ses manières quelque peu rudes.

See also se moquer de, which is more frequently used in the last signification.

Sourire, to smile, is conjugated like rire.

And the following verbs ending in eindre:

Astreindre (à), to compel.
Atteindre, to reach.
Aveindre, to take out, fetch out.
Ceindre, to gird.
Dépeindre, to describe.
Déteindre, to take out the color.
Enfreindre, to infringe, to transgress.

Peindre, to paint.
Ratteindre, to catch again.
Repeindre, to paint anew.
Restreindre, to restrain.
Reteindre, to dye again.
Teindre, to dye.

Also:

Joindre, to join.
Adjoindre, to adjoin.
Conjoindre, to join, unite.
Oindre, to anoint.
Déjoindre, to disjoin.
Disjoindre, to separate, disjoin.
Enjoindre (de), to enjoin.
Rejoindre, to rejoin.

The verbs ending in aindre, eindre, or oindre preserve the d only in the future and conditional present.

Contraindre requires à:

On a contraint le garçon à tout avouer.

Plaindre. Je vous plains. I pity you.

Se plaindre (de) means to complain (of).

Il se plaint de ses malheurs. Il se plaint de trop travailler.

With another mood than the infinitive de ce que is used after se plaindre:

Elle se plaint de ce que vous l'avez grondée.

If, in the above sentence, the de ce were omitted, the meaning would be changed. The idea would then be that she complained wrongfully — without grounds:

Elle a tort de se plaindre que vous l'aviez grondée.

Joindre means to put together.

One cannot say Je joindrai mes amis au concert, but Je rejoindrai mes amis au concert.

In this sense aller trouver, retrouver, and rencontrer are also used.

Examples of use of joindre:

Il a joint les deux tuyaux. Joignez les bouts de ce fil.

Craindre requires de before a following infinitive:

Je craignais cet homme; je craignais de le voir.

When followed by que introducing a subordinate clause, craindre requires ne before the following verb when the feeling of fear or apprehension exists; as is the case when the sentence is affirmative, interrogative, or negative-interrogative.

Je crains qu'il ne vienne. I fear he will come.

Craignez-vous qu'il ne vienne? Do you fear he will come?

Je crains qu'il ne vienne pas. I fear he will not come.

Je ne crains pas qu'il vienne. I do not fear that he will come.

Ne craignez-vous pas qu'il ne vienne? Do you not fear he will come?

Ne craignez-vous pas qu'il ne vienne pas? Are you not afraid that he won't come?

Astreindre if used before an infinitive requires à:

Le maitre a astreint les élèves à écrire deux pages de latin.

See assujettir, obliger, forcer, exiger, etc., more common.

Feindre requires de before a following infinitive:

Elle feint d'être indisposée.

Enjoindre requires de:

Le général lui a enjoint d'agir prudemment.

Like croître, conjugate:

Accroître, to increase. Décroître, to decrease. Recroître, to grow again.

The following forms of croître are spelled like the corresponding forms of croire:

Indicative present in the three persons singular.

Past definite throughout the tense.

Imperative, second person singular.

Imperfect of the subjunctive throughout the tense and past participle crû, etc.

These forms of the verb croître bear a circumflex accent over the i or the u to distinguish them from the similar forms of croire. Je crois without accent means I believe, and je croîs with accent I grow.

Accroître, décroître, recroître are conjugated with avoir and être; with avoir when they express action, and with être when they mark the result of the action.

La rivière a décru rapidement. La rivière est beaucoup décrue.

The past participles accru and décru are written without any circumflex accent; recru takes it in the masculine singular only — recrû (m.s.), recrue (f.s.).

Croître means to grow, to increase. It is a synonym of augmenter.

It is said of things which grow or increase in size or volume ; as a tree, a plant, a river, a fortune, etc.

It is not said of persons.

L'arbre a crû rapidement. The tree has grown rapidly. La rivière a beaucoup crû. The river has risen a great deal.

Ce garçon a grandi bien vite. That boy has grown rapidly.

To grow old is vieillir (or prendre de l'âge). To grow young is rajeunir.

To grow cold is se refroidir. To grow pale is pâlir.

Résoudre has two past participles: résolu and résous. Résolu (m.), résolue (f.), is used in the sense of determined, decided. Résous (invariable) is used in the sense of resolved, changed, turned. See examples below.

Résoudre requires de before a following infinitive: Ils ont résolu d'agir promptement.

Se résoudre requires à before an infinitive: Ils se sont résolus à commencer la lutte.

Le froid a résous le brouillard en pluie. The cold has turned the fog into rain.

Like résoudre are conjugated absoudre and dissoudre; but these two verbs have only the past participles absous and dissous, which vary to absoute, dissoute (f.s.), absous, dissous (m.pl.), absoutes, dissoutes (f.pl.).

Absoudre and dissoudre are not conjugated in the past definite and the imperfect subjunctive.

Absoudre is transitive and is used like the English to absolve.

Il m'a absous de mes péchés. Il a absous le monde de ses péchés.

We can also say Il a absous les péchés du monde. The first form is more usual.

Se taire, to be silent, to hold one's tongue, is conjugated like taire (see 75):

Taisez-vous, keep (be) silent, hush.

Taire, to keep silent on, to suppress, to keep secret, is not said of material things:

On taira votre secret. Your secret will be kept.

On taira les résultats de l'examen. The results of the examination will be kept secret.

He has concealed (hidden) his books is Il a caché ses livres.

The word conceal is used in the conjugation for convenience. It must be remembered that it is not used as a synonym for to hide, but for to keep secret.

Se taire sur is more used than taire.

Retraire, to redeem an estate (law).
Rentraire, to fine draw, to darn.
Soustraire, to subtract.

According to Littré's Dictionary, attraire, to allure, to entice, is conjugated like traire; but it is not used except in the infinitive, the verb attirer having supplanted it.

Do not say Il est distrait par la perte de sa fortune; but,

Il est bouleversé (affolé, éperdu) par (de) la perte de sa fortune. He is distracted over the loss of his fortune.

Il est distrait means He is absent-minded (distrait).

He loves her to distraction. Il l'aime à la folie. Il est affolé d'elle. Il raffole d'elle.

Used only in the infinitive. Résoudre is now used instead.

Résoudre (soudre) un problème.

SOURDRE = TO SPRING OUT, TO GUSH FORTH (of Water coming from the Earth)

Used figuratively in sense of to result.

The present infinitive and the third persons of the present indicative are used: Il sourd, ils sourdent.

Les eaux de cette rivière sourdent dans les hautes montagnes.

See sortir.

De cette affaire on verra sourdre de grands malheurs.

SOULOIR = TO BE WONT, ACCUSTOMED (Obsolete)

The imperfect, je soulais, tu soulais, etc., are the only forms used, and these infrequently.

SURGIR = TO LAND, TO REACH (A HAVEN)

Only the infinitive is used.

Croyez-vous que nous puissions surgir au port ?

SURGIR = TO ARISE, TO SPRING UP, TO START UP, TO SHOW ONE'S SELF BY RISING

Conjugated like finir and used in the third persons of most of the tenses. Examples:

L'INDICATIF

Présent	Imparfait	Passe Défini	Futur
Il surgit	Il surgissait	Il surgit	Il surgira
Ils surgissent	Ils surgissaient	Ils surgirent	Ils surgiront

LE CONDITIONNEL

Présent		Participe Présent
Il surgirait	Ils surgiraient	Surgissant

Une voile surgit à l'horizon.
Ils ont surgi des quatre coins de la terre.
De nouvelles difficultés surgissent sans cesse.

175. TISTRE = TO WEAVE

Used only in the compound tenses with its past participle Tissu (m.s.), tissue (f.s.). Avoir is the auxiliary.

J'ai tissu	Nous avons tissu
Tu as tissu	Vous avez tissu
Il a tissu	Ils ont tissu

PART II

THE second part of this work is devoted to lists of verbs for practice in the use of prepositions, the use of the reflexive verb, and for reference.

It is thought that lists 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 may be used to advantage by requiring the student to study three or four verbs daily; the English examples opposite the verbs assigned to be translated into French at the board as part of the recitation. This practice is intended to familiarize the student with the use of the verbs requiring prepositions before a following infinitive.

The lists will be found most valuable during the review, although they may be used on the advance after the student has grasped the significance of the use of prepositions. Constant practice in constructing idiomatic French sentences is the only means by which ease in speaking or writing the language can be acquired.

176. PRACTICAL EXERCISES IN IDIOMATIC FRENCH

The student who has reached this point must have noted the necessity, in French, of supplying words in answers to questions in order to avoid repeating the whole of an interrogative sentence in the form of an affirmation or a negation.

EXAMPLES

Have you my book?	I have.
Avez-vous mon livre?	Je l'ai.
Are you Robert's sister.	I am.
Êtes-vous la sœur de Robert?	Je la suis.
Are you happy?	I am not.
Êtes-vous heureux?	Je ne le suis pas.
Have you some more apples?	I have some more.
Avez-vous encore des pommes?	J'en ai encore.
Have you some peaches?	I have.
Avez-vous des pêches?	J'en ai.
Is your brother in the garden?	He is.
Votre frère est-il dans le jardin?	Il y est.
Have you opened the door?	I have.
Avez-vous ouvert la porte?	Oui, monsieur.

Does she sing every morning?	She does.
Chante-t-elle tous les matins?	Tous les matins.
Would you not have shut the window?	I would.
N'auriez-vous pas fermé la fenêtre?	Mais certainement.
Are there any pencils in the drawer?	There are (some).
Y a-t-il des crayons dans le tiroir?	Il y en a.

It is seen that le, la, les are substituted for nouns; le for preceding adjectives, adverbs, and sentences; that the verb in the question is usually repeated in the reply.

In the lists of verbs to follow, the questions in English are to be translated into French, employing the proper preposition before the following infinitive when one is required. The answers are to be translated into as brief a form as possible after the manner illustrated in the foregoing examples.

LIST I

Aimer mieux, to prefer to.
Préférer, to like better.
Valoir mieux, to be better.

You would rather go than stay, would you not? Ans. Yes, I would rather go than stay. It is better to go than to stay here alone.

LIST IV

180. VERBS THAT TAKE SOMETIMES À AND SOMETIMES DE BEFORE THE INFINITIVE

Some verbs take sometimes à and sometimes de before a following infinitive, according to the meaning which they are intended to convey.

Commencer à, to begin a progressive action.
Commencer de, to denote commencement of an action.

In practice, only à is used.

Continuer à, to continue uninterruptedly. Did he continue reading while you were in the room?

Continuer de, to continue with interruption. Does he continue to call upon her?

Demander à quelqu'un à faire quelque chose, to ask some one to (be allowed to) do something. Does he ask to (be allowed to) go out?

Demander à quelqu'un de faire quelque chose, to ask (request) somebody to do something. I asked the tailor to come at three. Ask him to close the door.

NOTE. The above distinction is not always made. In the first case de is often used instead of à, although it is more usual and preferable to say: Demander à quelqu'un la permission de faire quelque chose. In the second case the verb prier (page 237) is preferred in polite requests.

S'efforcer à, to strive physically. Is he trying to lift that box?
S'efforcer à or de, to strive intellectually. Is he trying to learn our language?
S'empresser à, to be eager, emulous to. Is he not eager to please those in the high places?
S'empresser de, to hasten to. Why did you not hasten to tie her shoe?
S'essayer à, is used for to try one's hand at. He is trying his hand at painting.
Essayer de, is used for to try, to make a trial of (as would be the case in a single or desultory attempt). He tried to sing, but failed utterly.
Être à, to be to (to denote the regular turn of successive actions). It is your turn to speak. It is your turn to deal (cards).

Être de, to be to (denotes the right or duty of some one to act).	It is for the master to command. It is for you to act in this matter.
Forcer, to compel / Obliger, to oblige / Contraindre, to force — usually require à when active, de when passive and with on.	He compelled you to do it, did he not? Did you oblige him to pay you? I was forced to do it.
Obliger requires de in sense of to render a service.	You will oblige me by doing it.
Laisser à, to leave to (something to be supplied, completed, finished).	I leave you to think (lit. to thinking).
Ne laisser pas de, not to leave off.	He does not leave off complaining.
Manquer à, to fail to (in sense of to fall short of doing one's duty).	He failed to fulfill his duties.
Manquer de, to fail to (in sense of to miss), to be near to, to omit to.	One cannot fail to observe that (miss observing that). He came near falling. He has failed (omitted) to return the books he borrowed.
S'occuper à, to be busy at, to apply one's self to doing something.	He is busy (occupied at) studying his lessons for to-morrow.
S'occuper de, to be busy with, to concern one's self with, to think about doing something.	He is concerned with getting evidence to prosecute his neighbor.
Accoutumer à, to accustom to (when used actively or pronominally).	I have accustomed them to work eight hours a day. He accustomed himself to smoke only in the evenings.
Accoutumer de, to be wont to.	He was wont to go there. (With être.)
Venir, to come. Used without preposition before infinitive in sense of (to come and do something).	Will you come and see me?
Venir pour. Used when meaning is to come for the purpose of, to come to do something (which may not necessarily be done).	I came here to tell you about it, but you were not in
Venir de, to come from doing something; expresses to have just.	I have just seen him. He has just started.
Venir à, is used in the sense of to happen to	If you happen to see him, tell him about it. If he should happen to die, I would be grief-stricken.

181. THE INFINITIVE AS THE OBJECT OF A VERB

The infinitive with its preposition completing the sense of another verb is in some cases the direct, and in some cases the indirect, object of the verb.

Study the following examples in which the direct object is shown in italics.

Enseigner } à quelqu'un à faire quelque chose, to teach or show somebody to do
Montrer } something.

Prier quelqu'un de faire quelque chose, to ask somebody to do something.

LIST V

182. VERBS REFLECTED IN FRENCH AND NOT IN ENGLISH, AND USE OF THE PAST TENSE

Many verbs are used in the reflected form in French, while the English verb does not admit of this form.

A list of these verbs, with the preposition required by them, is given, combined with the use of the past tense.

After the student has had explained to him the use of the past tenses, — which correspond generally to that in English, — he should receive a daily drill on the following exercises.

As two or more reflected verbs are combined in some of the following examples, they are not arranged entirely in alphabetical order.

S'abstenir de.
Se fâcher { contre. / avec. }

During Napoleon's reign, were the marshals of the empire in the habit of abstaining from levying contributions in an enemy's country? Ans. No; but Napoleon was always offended with them when they did not abstain from it.

S'abonner à.

When you lived in Paris, were you not in the habit of subscribing to every paper published, good, bad, or indifferent? Ans. Not at all; I subscribed only to those which upheld the government.

S'abonner à. What paper did you subscribe to last summer? Ans. I did not subscribe to any paper. When I wanted to read the papers, I used to borrow them from my friends.

S'apercevoir. S'obstiner à. He generally stopped reading when he perceived that I was listening to him, did he not? Ans. He not only stopped, but he persisted in not continuing. He was a queer fellow.

S'adoucir. When you came here ten years ago, were not the winters already growing milder? Ans. They were very severe when I came here; they have grown very mild within three or four years.

S'asseoir. Se sauver. S'esquiver. Just as you were sitting down, two or three men looked in at the door and then ran away. You did not see them, did you? Ans. Yes, I did; one was small, the other was tall; both had red flannel shirts on. I ran to the door immediately and saw them steal away down an alley.

S'agenouiller. Se moquer de. S'empêcher de. Whenever I knelt down, you laughed at me; why did you do that? Ans. I could not help laughing, you looked so funny.

Se bonifier. That wine was very indifferent for two years; five years ago it grew suddenly much better. Is it not better than the wine you bought this year? Ans. The wine I bought this morning will improve with time. Yours grew suddenly better, why should not mine?

Se brouiller. Se fâcher contre. Did not the general get angry at you this morning? Ans. He got angry with everybody; we fell out about an hour ago.

Se coucher. At what time did you usually go to bed when you were boarding in the country? Ans. In summer we went to bed at half-past eight; in winter we usually went to bed at ten. We never sat up very late.

Se dépêcher de. When you saw William yesterday morning, why did you not make haste to speak to him? Ans. He was walking so fast that I could not overtake him.

Se déterminer à. I have been told they resolved to pay them this morning. Were you not told the same thing? Ans. I was told the same thing. To tell you the truth, I know they hastened to pay them all this morning.

At what hour did you determine to set out? Ans. I determined to set out about an hour and a half ago. How late is it now?

S'emporter contre.
Se lever.

Why did you fly into a passion with your sister when you got up this morning? Ans. I did not fly into a passion with my sister. I flew into a passion with my servant, who got intoxicated last night, and who was still so when I got up this morning.

S'empresser de.

Whenever he went out, were you not eager to give him his cloak, gloves, and cane? Ans. We were always eager to do so.

S'endormir.
S'évanouir.

You say that young man fell asleep after fainting; you also say he fainted to-day, do you not? Ans. I say he fainted to-day, but I do not say he fell asleep immediately after fainting. He fell asleep an hour ago. When she lived in the country did she faint as often as she does now? Ans. She fainted regularly twice a day.

S'enivrer.
S'envoler.

Did not your servant get intoxicated very often last winter? Ans. He did; he used to get intoxicated every morning, and whenever he opened the cages to feed the birds, one or two generally flew away.

S'enrichir.

How did that merchant grow so rich this year? How many ships did he own last year? Ans. Really, I don't know. Last year his property consisted of two ships, I believe. He now has more than eighty.

Se fondre.

Formerly the snows on these mountains usually melted before the end of May; did they not? Ans. They usually melted about the end of June. Last year they melted in the month of April.

Se glisser.

How did that child creep into that barrel? Ans. I don't know how he crept into it; I did not see him get into it.

Se hâter de.

Last month those men hastened to pay their debts; did they not? Ans. They did; they paid them as soon as the bank was open, on the thirtieth.

Se retirer de.

Were you not absent when those patriots took refuge with us? Ans. I was; I had withdrawn from business. I was living in the country.

Se souvenir de.

Do you remember the days we spent together as children? Ans. If I remember rightly, we did not spend many days together.

Se vanter.
S'enrhumer.

You always used to boast you would never catch cold in this climate. How is it that you catch cold so frequently now? Ans. I caught cold this morning because I went out too early with only a thin coat on.

183. REMARKS ON ENGLISH AUXILIARIES AND FRENCH EQUIVALENTS

In some English grammars the words can, could, could have, may, might, might have, should, should have, are given as "signs" of a "potential mood"; and in most French grammars for English-speaking students, the impression is given that these "signs" should be translated by the conditional or subjunctive of French verbs.

This theory is an error, for these auxiliaries are real, defective verbs, and each contains a distinct idea of its own of power, leave, or obligation, and must, when the idea is to be conveyed, be translated by the proper tenses of pouvoir or devoir.

Further, will, shall, would, would have, in addition to their use as signs of the future or conditional, have their own meanings of wish, volition, or inclination.

This happens especially after if, or when the will of the speaker or other person is consulted; and then will must be rendered by the present of vouloir, and would by the conditional of vouloir.

Therefore, the student must in every case ascertain the exact meaning of these auxiliaries, and then translate into the proper French construction

A study of the following examples will show the distinctions to be made.

1. If I can (am able to) do it, I will carry it for you.
Si je puis le faire, je le porterai pour vous.

May I go out? Puis-je sortir?

Can he succeed? / Is he able to succeed? } Peut-il réussir?

If I could (were able), I should carry it for you.
Si je le pouvais, je le porterais pour vous.

I should (ought to) carry it for you.
Je devrais le porter pour vous.

2. If you go to Rome, shall you (are you to) go to Naples also?
Si vous allez à Rome irez-vous aussi à Naples?

If you will (are willing to) accompany me, I have a mind to go to Naples.
Si vous voulez m'accompagner j'ai envie d'aller à Naples.

Irez-vous à New York aujourd'hui ou demain?
Shall you (are you to) go to New York to-day or to-morrow?

Voulez-vous aller à New York demain?
Will you (are you willing, do you want to) go to New York to-morrow?

3. You would listen to me if you were more sensible.
Vous m'écouteriez si vous étiez plus sensé.

If you would (were willing to) listen to me, matters would be different.
Si vous vouliez m'écouter les choses seraient différentes.

4. I could (might be able to) be happier.
Je pourrais être plus heureux.

I could (was able to) do it when I was young.
Je pouvais le faire quand j'étais jeune.

5. He could have (might have) been run over by the carriage.
Il aurait pu être écrasé par la voiture.

Je ne sais pas comment il a pu se tromper.
I don't know how he could have made a mistake.

6. He wouldn't go if he had not sufficient money.
Il n'irait pas s'il n'avait pas assez d'argent.

He wouldn't (did not wish to) go. Il n'a pas voulu y aller.

He would (used to) go often to see the old lady.
Il allait souvent voir la vieille dame.

7. May used beseechingly to implore a favor or to avert an evil is rendered by the present subjunctive without que.

Puissé-je voir ces jours heureux ! May I see those happy days !
Puissent-ils arriver à temps ! May they arrive in time !

8. Can meaning to have the requisite knowledge, experience, or skill to do something is rendered by savoir before an infinitive.

Savez-vous nager ? Can you (do you know how to) swim ?

Je sais nager, mais je ne puis nager aujourd'hui parce que j'ai mal au pied.

9. Shall, if it expresses a determination in the speaker to enforce an act, must be rendered by forcer or obliger.

Que vous le vouliez ou non, je vous forcerai à travailler.

10. Must expressing necessity is rendered by falloir.

Il faut que je connaisse un homme pour le bien juger.
I must know a man in order to judge him well.

11. Must expressing inference or consequence from what precedes or follows is devoir.

He is covered with dust; he must have fallen.
Il est couvert de poussière, il a dû tomber.

See examples under devoir.

VERB DICTIONARY

In the use of this verb dictionary, it must be remembered that an attempt has not been made to supplant the regular dictionaries with respect to verbs, but to supplement them; to explain and illustrate peculiar uses and meanings of the verbs, and so to enable the student properly to use them or to avoid them.

The English-French dictionaries, as a rule, give the various meanings a verb may have, but do not sufficiently illustrate, and (since few beginners have complete French dictionaries or cyclopedias, or having them do not know how to use them) the student remains uncertain as to just how or when to use most verbs and not infrequently conceives erroneous ideas as to their significations.

This difficulty occurs especially with verbs that require prepositions after them, but it applies as well to many others.

This dictionary, in connection with the preceding text, is intended to explain only the difficulties or peculiarities of French verbs. Therefore, not all the meanings of the verbs are given. It is meant to show the beginner the verbs that are rarely used in general and particular applications, and in such cases to point out the words that should be used; to explain familiar and popular expressions that he will encounter in conversation or in reading (but no low expressions); in short, to tell him about verbs what he cannot find in his grammar or dictionary.

How to find the conjugation and the auxiliary for any verb is indicated on page 358.

POINTS TO REMEMBER

The prefix re indicates:

1. Action in a contrary sense. Ex.: Pousser, to push; repousser, to push in a contrary sense (hence to repulse, to repel, to reject, etc.).
2. Reiteration, repetition. Ex.: Faire, to do; refaire, to do again, to do over.
3. Intensity (augmentation or diminution). Examples of the application are seen in rétrécir, to narrow, to make narrow; relâcher, to relax, to slacken, etc.

The student should familiarize himself with the application of the last-given use of the prefix. He must remember that in French the simple form of the verb and that with the prefix re are often synonyms, and that in the figurative sense particularly the compounds with re are more used than the simple forms.

Enfermer des chevaux dans une écurie. Enfermer des papiers.
But Renfermer un vagabond. Renfermer ses chagrins.

Emplir ses poches de fruits, une cruche d'eau.
Remplir l'air de ses cris. Remplir bien son temps.

The passive form of a transitive French verb can always be used with par, which is translated as by.

Ma mère a planté ces rosiers. Ces rosiers ont été plantés par ma mère.

De is frequently used after the passive, in the sense of with, from, of, and sometimes in the sense of by. It is not used in the sense of by when a definite action is referred to. The use of both par and de in the sense of by is illustrated in Art. 68, 2.

Par presents no difficulty. When de should or may be used an example is given.

Que voulez-vous? What do you want? What can I do for you? Also much used in sense of: (1) What can you expect? (2) It could not be helped. (3) What could I do? Que lui voulez-vous? What do you want of him? Vous l'avez voulu. You would have it. It is your own fault. Faire (quelque chose) sans le vouloir. To do (something) unintentionally. Vouloir dire. To mean. Que voulez-vous dire? What do you mean? C'est ce qu'il voulait dire. That is what he meant. Savoir ce que parler veut dire. To take the hint; to understand a hidden meaning. Je le veux bien. I have no objection; with pleasure! Il veut cent francs de cela. He wants (asks) one hundred francs for that.

TABLE BY MEANS OF WHICH, AT A GLANCE, THE CONJUGATION OF ANY VERB CAN BE FOUND

The auxiliaries are shown under the conjugations of the models or indicated in the discussion of auxiliaries in articles 76-79; the prepositions used with the verbs and the idiomatic use of verbs are shown in lists I, II, III, IV, V, pages 232, 238, 244, 247, 249, and under the model conjugations and in the verb dictionary.

To use the table, look for the verb in its alphabetical order; if it is not so listed, it will be found or its conjugation indicated under its model as determined by the italicized endings.

Defective verbs are marked with an asterisk; they are here listed, but are separately treated, beginning page 209.
